EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

EX-SPEAKER KEIFER will probably not be a candidate for renomination.

EVERYBODY sympathises with Governor Pattison and his wife in the death of their little son, Robbie, a few days ago.

WE were positively startled on reading the New York Sun of Wednesday. It contained no mention of Holman for President

THE high toned Democrats, or Bourbons, of Virginia carried the election in that State by "buying or bullging" the colored voters.

MINISTER LOWELL is in high favor in England and Scotland. He has been elected to the rectorship of St. Andrew's University.

THE Republican boom for Blaine and Lincoln continues its reverberation in the West. It isn't afraid of the weather; its base is away below the frost line and its summit towers far above it.

WILLIAM MAHONE is oután a circular in which he intimates that he will see the Virginia Bourbons later. It is evident that Mr. Mahone does not consider himself entirely knocked out. For a feather-weight he is good one.

IT must have been an Independent who proposed John Kelley as candidate of the Democrats for the Presidency and William H. Vanderbilt for a Republican candidate.

GOVERNOR-ELECT LEON ABBETT, of New Jersey, isn't one of the Pattison stamp of economists. Instead of walking to the State House on the day of his inauguration, January 15, he will ride in a handsome conveyance behind four black horses.

FORTY-TWO million acres of land in Texas have been devoted to the use of schools and asylums. The extent of this generous provision will be better comprehended by comparison. The State of Pennsylvania, for instance, has not quite 29,000,000 acres of surface.

"SHUT UP!" shout the free trade theorists to every man who ventures to suggest the necessity of high tariff to protect American industries. And the mills for iron, cotton and wool hear it, and are shutting up every day, throwing thousands of operatives into idleness on the very edge of winter.

THE Toledo Blade claims that the Fourteenth Ohio was the first regiment to cross the lines of the Southern Confederacy, General Steedman having led it across the Ohio some hours before Ellsworth led his zouaves across the Potomac and was shot down by a tavern keeper of Alexandria.

SOCIETIES of German vegetarians who make it a matter of religion to eat no flesh have lately had hard luck with colonies sent to British Honduras and to Paraguay, but a colony which is now forming for settlement in California is likely to prosper. No one who has not a capital of $500 will be allowed to join.

FOR once the whiskey men and the advanced temperance people are of the same mind. They are alike opposed to the repeal of the whiskey tax, though as may be imagined, from very different seasons. What makes the distillers object to the mooted abolition of the Internal Revenue Department is the fear that such a step would have the effect of making the whiskey business too easy of access and of opening it up to men whose capital is at present insufficient for the purpose. If there is such a danger, it is certainly one more reason why the excise duties should not be substantially abated.

Why Does it Wave?

We mean the "bloody shirt." Every northern Democratic paper, as soon as any protest is entered against political murders in the South, will howl: "The Republicans still wave the bloody shirt, the war is over, &c." The Republican papers have repeatedly given evidence of this desire for entire reconciliation between the sections, and for progress in the South in manufactures and commerce, as well as in political toleration and general intelligence. They have gladly recognized every new feature of Southern prosperity, and, it is probably safe to say, have done something to help along their development.

Most of them have done all in their power to direct the attention of the people of the North to the Atlanta and Louisville expositions, and are now urging northern manufactures to aid in making the World's Fair at New Orleans next year a success. But these papers cannot shut their eyes to facts. If men are still murdered in the South because of their political opinions, if negroes are still intimidated and detered from voting by threats and violence, the Republican papers of the North cannot ignore such things because they wish well to the southern people. If the southern people refuse to become civilized, and if to denounce their crimes and excesses is to "wave the bloody shirt," then it ought to wave as long as these outrages are committed. The people of the North are not murderers, neither can they condone such crimes. The northern civilization will not stand it and the Democratic party will never meet with any important success north of the late rebellious states as long as they are sympathizers and apologists for southern murderers.

Facts are the sole means of judging whether the bulldozing spirit is still alive in the South. Rhetoric will not count with any one. Take the case of the killing of Matthews, the Republican leader, and one of the largest taxpayers in Copiah county, Mississippi, at the polls on election day The circumstances show that the murder was done for political effect. We have the word of the Democrats of Copiah county themselves for this last statement. They met in mass meeting the day after election—to do what? To take steps to bring the murderer to justice? No, but to announce that he must not be brought to justice. The resolutions adopted stated that rumors were current that relatives of Matthews intended to avenge his death, and declared that if any such attempts were made, they would be held "accountable" and regarded as without the pale and protection of the law and "common enemies of society," and promised them "certain, swift retribution." Two additional resolutions deserve to be quoted in full. The "best citizens of Kemper county," after the murder of Chisolm and his children, would not have expressed themselves differently. They are:

Resolved, Further, that in the opinion of this meeting it is necessay to the safety of society and the welfare of all races and classes in this county that hereafter the Matthews family shall keep out of politics in Copiah county.

Resolved, Further, that from henceforth no man or set of men shall organize the negro race against the whites in this county, and if it shall be attempted in the future, we hereby give notice that it shall be at the peril of the person or persons attempting to do so.

These are the utterances of the Copiah county Democracy—not the assertions of their enemies. Is it "waving the bloody shirt" to denounce political murder and ostracism and despotism such as these resolutions approve? If so, "waving" it becomes the duty of every newspaper in the United States which believes in freedom of political action for the black as well as the white.

Here is the "verdict" that was passed upon the murder of Matthews, taken from the Copiahan, and not published before, we believe, in the North:

In regard to the killing of J. P. Matthews, it was suggested to me by T. P. Ware that I had better have a jury of inquest over the body; before summoning the jury, I was told E. B. Wheeler did not deny the act; I saw him and he told me he had done it and I could make out my verdict that way.

W. M. ROBERTSON, Coroner.

This was the end of that case of political murder. It is not wrong for Southern men to do murder. O, no; it is wrong for Northern newspapers to object to it!

We dwell upon this case because it is the latest made known. But there have been others. Senator Mahone's facts regarding the failure of thousands of negroes to vote, who were already registered, must convince those who would not be influenced by his rhetoric. Why is it that in Danville, where the Readjuster ticket received 789 votes two years ago, and 841 votes last year, and over 1,300 Readjuster votes were enrolled, only 26 negroes dared to vote? This is a fact, and in other communities it was the same way. Will the newspapers that deprecate "the bloody shirt" please explain it? And if further proof is wanted that the bulldozing spirit is still alive in the South, the comments of papers like the Charleston News and Courier and the Macon Telegraph upon the Ku-Klux convictions in Georgia would furnish it. These and numerous other Democratic papers had no condemnation for the crime, but reserved their abuse for the prosecutor and the Government.

So long as such things continue Republican papers will continue to denounce them. If that be "waving the bloody shirt" then make the most of it.

A White Elephant.

The Philadelphia North American thus presents the predicament into which the Democracy of Ohio has fallen:

The Phobibitionists of Ohio last October presented the Democracy of that state with a white elephant—otherwise, the privilege of sending a Democrat to the United States Senate. The gift animal is eating his head off in the Democratic pasture, and envy and jealousy is eating the heart out of factional Democracy at the same time. There are two principal candidates for the position—George H. Pendleton, who wants to succeed himself, and Henry B. Payne, who wants to succeed Mr. Pendleton. Both gentlemen are shining lights in the party which claims to be the particular friend of the horny handed and the unswerving foe of monopoly.

What remains to be told is this: Mr. Pendleton is worth several millions, and is backed by several railroad companies. Payne is worth rather more millions than Pendleton, and is backed by the Standard Oil Company and several railroad organizations. These facts being known the fight is judged to depend upon the most money used with the best judgment. The Democratic editors have had a meeting in Columbus to look up the matter. They have determined not to allow the money to be wasted upon the legislators. They are very wise. They had much better divide it among themselves, which is the way to reform politics. Next year the Democrats will adopt an anti-monopoly and anti-bloated bondholder platform, and place on it some man who has robbed a railroad or so, or raked in a few millions as the manager of monopoly. And the asses will continue to bray.

ANOTHER terrible accident at sea, by which nearly ninety persons lost their lives, is reported. The circumstances under which it took place are not fully stated, but it is said to have been the result of a collision. By far the greater number of marine catastrophes nowadays are due to this cause, against which all the resources of modern times as applied to navigation have failed to find an effective safeguard. One would think that the sea were wide enough for two vessels to pass each other without any risk of collision, but it appears not.

CHINA gives public notice that France is getting ready to strike her first.

The Press on the Virginia Election.

It has been shrewdly remarked, says the N. Y. Tribune, that the victory of the Democrats in Virginia was the most damaging defeat they have sustained in any of the elections this year. The bare fact that a victory was won, and in a State which has been generally expected to cast its electoral votes for a Republican candidate next year, would not of itself have been seriously harmful to the Democrats. But the way in which the victory was won, and the spirit in which it was hailed, take us far back toward the days of White Leagues and Rifle Clubs, Ku Klux Klans and wholesale massacres for political ends. That this is not a partisan view of the matter, but one which is taken by citizens of both parties at the North, may be seen in the comments of the Chicago Times, the most influential Democratic journal west of Ohio, which remarked:

"The Democrats went to the polls with shotguns and the negroes fled to the woods," is a rather terse account of the Virginia election. . . . The victory for the Democrats was a victory won on the color line, and not on any imaginary boundary between "Funders" and "Readjusters." The demonstrations of hilarious joy which come in the press from all parts of the Democratic section are celebrations of a victory won on that line and are marked by no perception of any other. Readjusterism, tariff, every political question upon which there has been any pretence of party division, disappear in a sudden gush of race feeling. . . . They can count with certainty upon coming to the Ohio River with 140 votes for any candidate they may present. But they will need 201 votes to elect. . . Some unconjectured number of years must pass before an organization of President-makers embodying only a sectional prejudice against the Ethiopian in politics can cross the geographical boundary of that prejudice with good hopes of winning popular favor on the Northern side of it.

The Philadelphia Press, on the same subject says: "Senator Mahone, though beaten, is not baffled. In a four-column address to the Readjuster party of Virginia in relation to the causes of their recent defeat and their future course he lets a good deal of light into the condition of affairs in Virginia. He compares the progress of the state under Bourbon and Readjuster rule, and shows, item by item, that in the management of the State's finances, payment of the debt, support of public schools, and in the care of the insane, the comparison is altogether in favor of the Readjuster management. In relation to the treatment of the debt question, he points to the undeniable fact that, whatever have been the professions of the Bourbons in the past, they have acquiesced in the debt question, and, for good or evil, that matter is no longer an issue in Virginia politics."

OUR regular New York letter, which we do not often have space to publish, this week, contains the following interesting paragraph: The daily newspapers this week pass off with a few paragraphs the meeting of the Alumni of the great Jesuit College of St. John's. The meeting was really the first step towards establishing a Catholic University after the manner of Yale and Harvard in this country, and Oxford and Cambridge in England. The alumni of St. John's and St. Francis Xavier's College, the two Jesuit colleges in and about New York, number among their members some of the most shining and influential members of the social, financial, journalistic and professional worlds. There are judges, authors, editors and lawyers among them who wield a strong influence and they will push the work of the Catholic Church forward, in a manner which will astonish people within the next year or so. The Alumni of St. Francis Xavier's have their dinner within the next two weeks. There the matter of a University will again be agitated and the result will probably be that large sums will eventually be subscribed to carry out the scheme."

The Depression in Iron and Steel.

We should like to have the REPUBLICAN, of this place, explain the reason why, immediately after the Republican victory in this State and the election of Niles and the British army, the iron and steel industries of the commonwealth commenced to shut down. Had the Democrats been successful, the Republicans would have said that the depression in the iron trade was caused by the Democratic triumph. We know they would have said this, because they have said it before, and their argument has always been that Democratic state or national victories would knock down the tariff and kill business. This assertion, though false as Satan himself, is the one that Republicans always use to scare the people with before an election, but now they have got it in their own lap. They have been victorious, but nevertheless the iron and steel mills are shutting down all over the State, just as cold winter is coming on, when the poor laborers want work and wages worst. It isn't the fault of the Democrats this time, is it? And just please to bear in mind the fact hereafter, when Republicans try to scare you with the silly "tariff" cry, that the mills in Pennsylvania in 1883 shut down immediately after a Republican victory!—Democratic Watchman.

When those who are acquainted with the politics of the State and Nation read the above they will at once perceive that there is absolutely nothing to answer, because the assertion that the iron and steel mills commenced to shut down "immediately after a Republican victory" is false. They began to shut down as long ago as September and continued all through October, their number being increased by the Democratic victory in Ohio.

The supposition that immediate danger is removed by the Republican victory in Pennsylvania is one which no one entertains. Do not the Watchman and the Democrats generally know that the National House of Representatives is Democratic and from that source all fear comes? Experience has proven that they are liable to legislate in a way that will remove the protecting tariff from home industries and the fear of that and the pronounced advocacy of free trade theories by the Democratic party is what depresses the iron and steel trade. The market for iron and steel has not been buoyant since the passage of the Democratic tariff bill and will not be again until the various branches of government are restored to Republicans.

Workmen who need work and wages most at this season of the year have the Democratic party, and the Democratic party only, to blame for their manifold troubles.

We do not think the Watchman's inquiry worth answering but for the apprehension that some may be deceived by it.

THE craze for hot water as a beverage will be given a new impetus by the news from Washington presaging a corner in tea. There has been a painful uncertainty about the constitution of this favorite and time-honored drink of our aunts for some time. Some said tea was made of tea; some said it was chiefly made of dirt. The general public gave up the conundrum and kept on drinking the doubtful decoction. Some will probably continue to do so in spite of the increase in price. The higher it comes the more we must have it. Of course the prospect of war between France and China, and the possible blockade of the tea shipping ports will be the present excuse for the increase in price, but once their attention is attracted to the case with which this staple can be used as an implement of speculation it is doubtful if those who have done such execution with wheat can be persuaded to let go their grip on it.

A BOOT-MAKER'S shop near Windsor Castle caught fire the day the Queen took up her abode there. All England was alarmed.

AN important duty for Congress is an investigation into the affairs of "Our Navy."

GENERAL NOTES.

There are more saloons in Chicago than lamp-posts, and the latter are being overworked.

In Normany it is no uncommon sight to see a driver refresh his tired horses with a pail of cider.

A wicked Omaha preacher says the Protestants embrace three times as many women as men. We believe him.

The ladies' billiard parlor in the principal hotel in Las Vegas, New Mexico, is in the cupola; the gentlemen's is in the basement.

"Died of smoky chimneys," is Dr. Dudfield's report regarding the 745 deaths beyond the average reported in London last February.

Fifteen and twenty dollar bouquets are to be dispensed with this winter among the "best" people of the metropolis, and only the tiniest bunches of flowers are to be in favor.

Mr. Gladstone seems to bear no political grudges. He gives one seceder from his Government the viceroyalty of Canada, and the other, the Duke of Argyll, the garter.

"Lady Jim," the Piutes' "squaw man," died recently. Having refused to fight with his tribe at the Pyramid Lake in 1860, he was condemned ever after to wear petticoats.

The Sultan of Turkey has just made a present to the Emperor of Austria of a palace valued at $500,000. The title is somewhat an arbitrary one, as it was confiscated from the Pasha to whom it belonged.

Fence cutting will probably be the uppermost topic before the special session of the Texas Legislature. It is proposed to increase the penalty for cutting fences, and to fix a penalty for enclosing land illegally.

Experts in chemistry have estimated that the the cost of London's winter smoke and fog is $25,000,000 annually; that is to say, constituents of coal to the value escape unconsumed and assist in forming the sooty vapor.

A grocer in Troy, N. Y., says that speculators have stored away millions of eggs which they will be glad to sell after Thanksgiving day at less than what they cost. He adds that most of the eggs now for sale are from Germany.

A St. Louis clergyman has asked the newspapers not to report his sermons, since some of his congregation absent themselves from the house of worship because they can read the substance of the discourse at their ease at the breakfast table.

A young man in Detroit put a pistol behind the ear of his sister, who was playing the piano, and pulled the trigger. He claims he "didn't know it was loaded." A careful investigation completely exonorated the young man. The pistol wasn't loaded.

When a Wall street broker is suspended for swearing on the floor of the Exchange he spends the time of his suspension in duck shooting. The luck of the duck hunter is sure to give him an opportunity to shoot off his swear and improve his manners.

The Central Pacific Railroad Company, while it deals sharply with the country at large, shows more consideration for its employes. It allows any person injured in its service board and lodging and medical attendance while absent from work and guarantees them employment after recovery.

"There are six authors of the first rank, and I am one of them," wrote the elder Dumas to a general who complained of not having received a visit from him. "There are six Marshals of France, and you are not one of them. It seems to me, therefore, that it was for you to call first upon me."

While Professor McMaster was traveling last summer, the first hundred and fifty pages of Vol. II. of his "History of the People of the United States" were stolen from his satchel. Being unable to recover the manuscript, and having no other copy, he had to rewrite the whole amount stolen.

Near Kingwood, Preston county, W. Va., recently, men working on a road unearthed a human skull which measured 40 inches in circumference around the forehead. No other bones could be found in its vicinity. The skeleton to which the skull belongs is supposed to have been 14 feet high.

The San Francisco Alta says that shad, which were planted in the waters of California a few years ago, are naturalising themselves along the whole Pacific coast. They are now caught in Puget Sound, and, the Alta believes, will soon frequent every river and harbor between San Francisco and Alaska.

A short time ago a woman appeared on the streets at San Antonio, Texas, carrying a child and an organ, and solicited the contributions of charitable citizens, which were liberally bestowed. It now transpires that at the time she had $6,000 in a bank, and having retired from "business," is arranging to build a fine store.

The railroad track on the new bridge between Minneapolis and St. Paul—the only stone bridge over the Mississippi—is sixty feet above the river; total height above the foundation, 85 feet 6 inches. The bridge affords the best view of the falls of St. Anthony. It has 28 arches, and 16 of the spans are of 80 feet each. The stucture cost about $600,000.

A correspondent of the Lancet describes the following as the method employed in China for determining paternity: A basin or cup of clean water is obtained; the supposed father's finger is cut, and then put into the water till some blood trickles; then the child's finger is is cut and placed in the water, and if the two bloods immediately unite, the proof is complete. The magistrate is sometimes bribed and the water tampered with.

Canon Venable cites a coincidence which he considers as wonderful as any of which he has heard. Forty years ago he was riding with a party of friends from Palestrina to Frascati, when he dropped his eye-glass. They were about giving up a long search when one of them remarked that the glass ought to reveal itself by its reflection on the sunlight, and to illustrate this he threw a coin into the air. A sharp click was heard and there lay the coin on the eye-glass.

Poetry.

TWENTY-FOUR O'CLOCK.

Well, wife, while down in town to-day
I heard by chance the strangest thing;
Twill come to pass, the people say,
Tho' trouble it is sure to bring.
Our time-piece there upon the wall
Must go (it gives me quite a shock)
You see 'tis of no use at all—
'Twill soon be 24 o'clock.

We'll breakfast then at 18 sharp,
At 19 I must take the train.
What oddities! I can't help harp
On what is sure to turn the brain.
But labors brain will still go 'round
On wages there will be no lock,
Tho' this old world at last has found
It has a 24 o'clock.

Dear Sue maybe you have forgot
Our wedding, twenty years ago;
'Twas 12 when parson tied the knot,
Tho' now it seems it was not so,
Time's river flows on mighty fast,
And each new wave seems but to mock;
For wife we've had to find at last
We wed at 24 o'clock

Our Maud, who'd like to sleep till noon,
Now rising on the stroke of 6,
Can have her share of sleeping soon,
And doze till 18. What a mix!
But when young Lynn comes here to call,
And stays like patience on a rock,
'Twill throw a shadow over all—
So late the hour; 13 o'clock.

And meeting hour which always came
So regularly at half-past 10,
Will never seem again the same—
A sort of 22 amen.
Dear Sue this thing is certain sure
To soon affect both you and me,
For our old clock there is no cure;
It and the future can't agree.

Tho' some folks learnedly may speak
Of Greenwich time, and this and that,
It is our century's strangest freak—
A queer diurnal tit for tat.
We're told the world improves with age,
Our ship at last has reached a dock
Where change in all things is the gauge:
'Twill soon be 24 o'clock.

MARJORY MAY.

Marjory May came tripping from town,
Fresh as a pink in her trim white gown,
A picture was Marjory, slim and fair,
With her large sun-hat and her sun-lit hair;
And down the green lane where I chanced to stray
I met, by accident, Marjory May.

Marjory May had come out for a stroll,
Past the gray church and around by the toll,
Perhaps by the wood and the wishing-stone,
There was sweet Marjory tripping alone.
"May I come, too? Now don't say me nay."
"Just as you please," laughed Marjory May.

So it fell out that we went on alone,
Round by the wood and the wishing-stone;
And there I whispered the wish of my life—
Wished that sweet Marjory May were my wife.
"For I love you so dear. Is it aye or nay?
Come, answer me quickly, sweet Marjory May!"

Marjory May stood; not a word did she speak,
Only the red blood flushed in her cheek;
Then she looked up with a grave, sweet smile,
(The flush dying out of her face the while).
"I like you so much, but not in that way,
And then there is John," said Marjory May.

Years have rolled on since that fair summer's day
Still I'm a bachelor, old and gray,
Whenever I take my lonely stroll
Round by the wood and back by the toll
I pass by the house where her children play,
For John has married sweet Marjory May.

Our Story Teller.

Love in the Wilderness.

BY HELEN FOREST GRAVES.

"There," said Juliet Garland, impatiently, "I can't wear these kid gloves again by any possibility. They've been once to the cleaner's and I've done them myself twice with bread crumbs."

She sat in the deep window seat, her bright hair streaked with morning sunshine, her blue eyes sparkling with vexation, while a pair of very much demoralized kid gloves of the palest primrose tint, lay in her lap.

And Dora, her youngest sister, looked listlessly up from her pile of music she was turning over—another of the bright blonde blossoms of humanity.

"Why don't you get yourself a new pair?" said she. "Oh, dear! there is not a song here that is not a hundred years old. 'Juanita,' 'Her Bright Smile,' Beautiful Daisies,' and all that sort of thing. Rosie must get something that isn't coeval with the ark. How is a girl to—"

"Why don't I get another pair?" sharply cross-questioned Juliet. "Because I haven't any money—that is the reason!"

"It is so dreadful to be poor," said plump, pretty Dora, contemplating her pink finger tips; and at the same moment Mrs. Templeton, the married blonde of the family, came in with a worn look on her face.

"More bills," said she. "Oh, girls, what will Frank say? Stefani has actually had the hardihood to charge $75 for that little lunch we gave to Mrs Atwood and her son. And Madame Cherimnot's account is $89, and I'm positively afraid to open the florist's bill."

"Then it's no use asking for more kid gloves at present," said Juliet, disconsolately.

"Nor music," added Dora, with a shrug of her shoulders.

Mrs. Templeton burst into tears.

"I declare," said she, "I'm discouraged. And you girls are always teasing for something or other, and Frank is so cross whenever we exceed the regular allowance!"

"Crying will do no good," said Dora, who was evidently the philosopher of the family. "But what is that letter in your lap, Rose?"

"Oh, that!" said Mrs. Templeton, "is from Uncle Paul. I declare, Stefani's bill upset me so that I forgot all about it. He wants one of you girls to come up to the Maine Camp and keep house for him. It's somewhere on the line of the Rangeley Lakes, I believe. Owls and whippoor-wills thrown in. Come, girls which of you will volunteer?"

Juliet gave a little shriek of dismay; Dora elevated her pink cushiony hands. But a third sister who had been silently mending the flounces of a pink silk skirt, in an obscure corner, looked up.

"Is Uncle Paul really in earnest?" said she. "Then I'll go."

"Gladys!" cried all three of the others, in different accents of amazement, reproach and incredulity.

Gladys Garland rose up, flung aside the soft billows of pink silk that cumbered her lap, and came out into the light. Of all the sisters, she was perhaps the loveliest and the most determined.

"Why not?" said she. "Do you think I am particularly in love with this sort of life? I declare there have been times within the last month when I've felt inclined to go for a servant maid or look up a situation as factory hand. Just consider, girls, the dress I wear is not paid for; the milliner is always sending her girl around with bills. I can't go on this street nor on that for fear of meeting some one who will ask me for the money I honestly owe them. Rosie, like a darling that she is, keeps giving parties, and lunches, and morning musicales, to try and get us well married. Frank, poor fellow, is working beyond his strength to give his wife's sisters a fair chance; but it isn't a bit of use. See how we all hang fire. Now, I don't know about Julia and Dora, but I, for one, am tired of being put up in the world's window, 'For Sale!' Yes I'll go to Uncle Paul."

"But," gasped Mrs. Templeton, "what will Society say?"

"What it pleases," Gladys answered. "Society don't settle my boot bill; nor provide me with pocket money."

"Gladys," said Juliet, remonstratingly, "I think you are crazy!"

"Because I am emancipating myself from slavery? But you know, Juliet, I cannot see where all this is to end."

"What will Mr. Mandeville say?" demurely questioned Dora, with a sly, sidelong glance at her sister.

"He will say," Gladys stoutly answered, "that there is one fortune hunter the less in the ranks."

"Gladys, how can you speak so coarsely?" said Juliet, not without indignation.

"Is it coarse?" said Gladys. "It is the simple truth. Mr. Mandeville is very handsome and agreeable; but I don't think he will miss me, after the first evening or two. Oh, there are too many Peris in this Paradise! And poor, good, patient Frank, he will have one less to provide for. Yes, I'll go with Uncle Paul."

"You may as well commit suicide at once," said Juliet.

"You'll never marry in that wilderness," said Mrs. Templeton.

"There are nineteen old maids in this block," said Gladys. "We counted them yesterday, Dora and I. Do you suppose there are nineteen old maids on Lake Molechunkamunk?"

"Nonsense!" said Mrs. Templeton.

"And besides," added Gladys, the laughter fading from her eyes, "is it really the end and aim of all female humanity to get married? Why shouldn't I be an old maid as well as another? Do you think I shouldn't survive it? Wait and see!"

"Gladys Garland had definitely made up her mind on the subject. Within three days she had purchased a pair of thick boots, a blue flannel skirt, and a poke bonnet of rough straw, trimmed with blue ribbons, and gone out to Lake Molechunkamunk.

Uncle Paul was glad to see her. He didn't live in a wigwam, as she had almost taught herself to believe, but owned a pretty little lodge in this vast wilderness, shaded with forest trees and embowered with blue-cupped morning glories.

He was civilized, and did not assassinate English grammar like the champion hunter in the dime novels. And he had provided a pretty little boudoir for her, whose pink mosquito netting set the black flies and gnats at defiance, and an exquisite engraving of the Madonna di San Sisto hung over the broad mantle.

"Oh, I think I shall be quite, quite happy here," said Gladys, as she in a little boat where the drooping bougns of the hazel bushes made blots of shadow on the glittering lake, and read while Uncle Paul fished.

"Don't regret any of the New York cavaliers, eh?" said Uncle Paul.

And Gladys stoutly answered:

"No!"

But afterward she asked herself, had she told the truth?

"If Darrell Mandeville chooses to marry Miss Dorrance, let him," she thought. "I shall never pursue any man. Let other girls do as they think fit."

That afternoon, however, when she returned from a long ramble in the woods with her straw hat full of fragrant blackberries she found the little lodge occupied.

"I am sorry to take you thus unceremoniously by storm," said a handsome, middle-aged gentleman, who looked to be what he was, a Wall street broker, come out into the wilderness for his summer vacation. "But my friend has fallen over a cliff and broken his leg, and this was the nearest point of shelter within a range of seven miles. Perhaps your husband will excuse us, if—"

"But it isn't my husband," said Gladys, composedly depositing the berries on the table. "It is my Uncle Paul. He is fishing, up the lake. But if he were here, he would say, as I do, you are very welcome. Where is the poor man? I am not much of a surgeon, but—"

She stopped abruptly. There, lying on the little chintz-covered lounge, his pallid face supported by cushions, lay—Mr. Darrell Mandeville.

"Miss Garland!" he exclaimed, "I am so glad!"

"Mr. Mandeville," she uttered, in the same breath, "I am so sorry!"

"Because I have drifted here, of all places in the world!" he pleaded.

"Because you are so badly hurt," faltered Gladys, with the tears coming into her eyes.

"I knew you were somewhere in this region," he said. "In fact, Miss Gladys, I was looking for you. But I didn't expect to find you just now, and thus. I thought—"

And then he closed his eyes; a deadly pallor crept over his face.

"I think he has fainted," said the Wall street broker.

And just then Uncle Paul came in—Uncle Paul, who was born a surgeon, and who understood all the healing secrets of the glen and forest—and Gladys heaved a deep sigh of relief. It would all be right now.

A broken leg is no joke, especially in the backwoods, where splints have to be manufactured out of the most incongruous material, and arnica cannot be had twelve miles.

Mr. Mandeville made but a slow convalescence, yet he did not appear to regard the detention as unpleasant. The Wall street broker went back to his stocks and bonds.

"I think we could easily get you to Andover," he had said wistfully. "And a parlor car from there—"

"Oh, hang your parlor cars!" said Mr. Mandeville, impetuously. I'm doing very well where I am now."

"Oh," said the Wall street broker, a sudden light of comprehension irradiating his dull brain. "Oh, in that case I may as well leave you to your fate. It's the old story of Ulysses and the Sirens over again."

* * * *

Mrs. Templeton came into the room where Dora and Juliet were remodeling their white dresses for a theatre party to the Casino, one September day, with flushed cheeks and shining eyes.

"Girls," she cried, "what do you think? Gladys is engaged!"

"To some Buffalo hunter," said Dora, scornfully.

"No," said Rosie, "to Mr. Mandeville. He has been up there for a month—at Lake Molechunkamunk."

Juliet dropped her work.

"Impossible she cried. "Gladys engaged up in those wildernesses, while Dora and I are left to wither on the stem down here in New York, and to Darrell Mandeville, too—the best match of the season!"

"Things do turn out so strangely!"

And Gladys, the predestined old maid of the family, was the first to be married after all.

"Gladys always was lucky!" said the two sisters.

Wonderful Presence of Mind.

As Miss Annie Derry, daughter of Thomas Derry, of Napa City, who is now teaching the public school of Soscol district, was walking to her boarding place after the close of the school Tuesday evening, on the railroad track, indulging in a pleasant reverie, she noticed the Suisun train rounding the curve about half a mile distant. Satisfied that it was too far away to bring danger to her she leisurely continued her course upon the track. Watching it coming towards her without anxiety she did not notice her steps, when she accidentally stumbled and fell to the ground.

On attempting to rise the young lady discovered that one of her feet was fast beneath the rail. She made violent efforts to release it, but all in vain. What must have been her thoughts in this situation as she saw the distance growing less each moment between her and the rapidly approaching train, can only be imagined while she continued her frantic efforts to get free. She waved her hand and shook her handkerchief in distress, but her signals were unseen. As if by inspiration from heaven, almost at the last moment, a thought came like a flash of lightning that her foot might be extricated by unbuttoning her shoe, which was an old one, pretty loose upon her foot. The thought was acted upon with nervous energy, the foot pulled from beneath the rail and she rolled from the track not a moment too soon to escape a horrible death.

It would not be strange, considering the great mental strain the young lady suffered, if she lay some time in a half fainting condition: for even after her friends had come to her assistance for two hours she remained in a speechless condition, suffering from nervous prostration consequent upon the agonizing position in which she had been placed, with death rapidly approaching, from which there seemed no escape. With the most devout gratitude she blessed the kind Heaven that inspired her with fortitude and presence of mind to unbutton her shoes and thus secure release from her perilous position. The shock to the nervous system was so great that Miss Derry has not recovered to the present time. Some seven or eight of her scholars saw the accident from the courtyard, and although almost paralyzed with an agonizing fear for the life of their beloved teacher, they rushed to the track with blanched faces to find that she had suffered no physical injury. The engineer of the train, which was running at a high rate of speed, seemed to have been unconscious of the manner in which he had jeopardized a human life by the careless watch along the road. —Napa, (Cal.,) Register.

Now that cold weather is here there will probably be an increase in the number of divorce cases. It would provoke a saint to have a pair of icy feet suddenly thrust into one's warm back.

The eye is often styled the window of the soul, and, therefore, when a black eye turns to a brown it can properly be called a bay window.

MAHONE'S ADDRESS.

How the Bourbon Victory in Virginia was Bought with Blood.

Senator Mahone, the leader of the Readjuster party in Virginia and chairman of the State committee, has issued an address in which he explains what his party has done for the State and the cause of humanity and how the Democrats, whom he calls Bourbons, carried the State at the late election. The tale of horror should stir with indignation the blood of every Northern freeman and make the blood-bought victory won by the merciless shedding of the blood of defenseless men the dearest triumph the Democracy ever gained. Every Northern man should vote against the party that tolerates such barbarism. We give below a brief synopsis of Senator Mahone's address:

READJUSTER ADMINISTRATION.

Of the readjuster administration of affairs General Mahone speaks in high terms. "The state debt," he says, "has been settled without taint of repudiation of a dollar, either of principal or interest. Our enemies have this year, after years of denunciation of our settlement, stamped it with their professional approval. This settlement saved the State from liability for $35,000,000 of falsely created principal, and effected a saving in future interest of $35,000,000. The judgment of the financial world upon this ascertainment and settlement of the debt is attested by the fact that the Riddleberger three per cent bonds are quoted at 52 today, while the old bonds, bearing 6 per cent, are quoted at but 44."

When the Bourbons took power, he continues, they found $1,814,000 in the treasury, with no floating debt. They left less than $23,000 in the treasury, with a floating debt of nearly $2,000,000. Behold the contrast! The readjusters after three years of control have extinguished the floating debt, except $715,000, and have now in the Treasury over a million and a half of money.

Under readjuster administration and in spite of 65,000 Bourbon votes to the contrary, the suffrage has been liberated from the stumbling block of the capitation tax, and the whipping post, erected as a disfranchising machine against negroes has been abolished. Up to the recent election the right to vote has been freely exercised under readjuster rule and all the laws of the State have been administered without discrimination between rich and poor, white and black.

THE SCHOOLS.

Compare, continues Senator Mahone, the readjuster rule of last year with the last year of Bourbon rule, and the books show the readjusters have increased the number of schools from 2,491 to 5,587, the number of colored schools from 89 to 850, the pupils from 108,074 to 257,332, the colored pupils from 3,208 to 49,560, the teachers from 2,504 to 4,538, the colored teachers from 94 to 644. The expenditures from $511,902 were increased to $1,154,142. The establishment of the first State normal school for colored teachers in the United States is another milestone planted by our party on the road of progress.

Since the accession to power of the readjusters 726 miles of railroad have been built, equal to a permanent investment of $21,000,000; our principal port has become the second cotton port in the country, and its exports have increased 83 per cent; our taxable values on personalty have increased over eighteen per cent; our license tax over nine percent; capital has sought investment here, mines have have been opened, and capital and labor among us have been aroused to greater activity than ever before.

Our federal relations, says Senator Mahone, have never been more friendly than they are now at any time since the formation of the constitution in 1789. The voice of Virginia has been heard in both houses of Congress in support of progress, order and rightful national authority, and for the first time since the war she has been treated with the same consideration as New York or Massachusetts. Sectionalism has disappeared not only from the minds of a majority of our own people, but among those outside of Virginia who have seen us so loyally and earnestly striving for things nobler and better.

THE RECENT ELECTION.

In speaking of the recent election Senator Mahone remarks that it is not pleasant to hold up crime and lawlessness to the world's gaze, but where the fruits of these are made to seem the honest will and opinion of our people it is a patriotic duty to let the truth be known. He then proceeded to charge the Bourbon faction with knowingly and advisedly drawing the color line in the election. When they assembled in Lynchburg, in July last, "a large element of its membership openly and avowedly favored the adoption of the color line." That such a plank would be incorporated into the platform adopted seemed highly probable until the final action taken developed the fact that, for reasons best known to themselves, the Bourbons had determined not to make written proclamation of their purpose to draw the color line. Even the most moderate Bourbon did not pretend that this failure to draw the color line in the platform sprung from lack of purpose so to do, but it was admitted on all hands that it had not been formally adopted from motives of policy. * * * But, says Senator Mahone, as the election drew near the Bourbon faction, realizing that on every other issue it was hopelessly defeated, infuriated by a knowledge of impending disaster, seized upon the race issue, chanted, chorused, and intoned it until, wrought up to fever heat, it became their sole, only, and absorbing theme—screamed in threatening frenzy, fierce and bewildering as the dance and song of the Carmagnole in the days of the sans culotte.

THE DANVILLE TRAGEDY.

And then Senator Mahone descends to details. Contemporaneous with these appeals, he says, sensational circulars from Danville, Cumberland and elsewhere, filled with false statements of wrongs and outrages committed by blacks, cartoons depicting negroes punishing white children; pictures of negro men with a white child on one knee and a black child on the other, infamous perjuries as to the utterances of our public speakers, and lies, great and small, calculated to inflame race prejudice, were spread broadcast through the white districts of the State, backed by corruption money without stint, while they were studiously suppressed in the black districts and their absence supplied by doubled funds of money to "buy or bully" the blacks.

Murder in cold blood began in Madison county. Days before it was repeated in Danville rumors of the shipment of arms filled the air, and during the fair week at Richmond—long before any outbreak occurred—the knowing ones were heard to whisper and mysteriously predict what might be expected at the proper time.

In due time it came. With what premeditation and design it came let any impartial man who read the Bourbon press and heard the preparations made for it judge for himself. Who provoked it? Who perpetrated it? Let the Bourbon journals themselves testify. With what purpose it was perpetrated let the thousands of false circulars turning it to political account, spread broadcast by the Bourbons almost before it occurred, and the effect they produced, speak as argument can.

AN APPALLING PICTURE.

The massacre in Danville is dignified by Bourbonism with the name of riot. The facts, as gathered from all sources, are that upon Saturday evening preceding the election, just after the Danville negroes had received their weekly pay and were buying their Sunday supplies in a crowded market place, a white man appeared, had an altercation with a negro and whipped him. The fight was ended, and no other negroes came to the rescue of the punished man. But the programme was not interrupted by this circumstances. An armed gathering of the "best people" of the "best and bravest" was conveniently near, and in a moment a murderous throng poured out of the building where they were assembled, opening a deadly fire upon the unarmed, defenceless and flying negroes.

How many were killed no one knows, and no one will probably learn the truth, for the condition of things still in Danville is such that the truth cannot be learned. That they were shot in the backs like dogs while running away; that no pistol shot was fired by a black man; that no white man was injured, save by his own friends; that for days the poor victims were found dead in alleys, in warehouses and under houses, like poisoned rats that had crawled away to die; that the negroes fled to the woods, to the State of North Carolina, to the four winds of heaven—these are a few of the facts of this bloody, wholesale murder, which was telegraphed far and near by Bourbons as an insolent uprising of the blacks against the whites. * * * The result of these outrages has been to add the crime of murder to the already long lists of Bourbon offences. The responsibility for the crime rests upon the leaders of that faction who by incendiary appeals inflamed the brutal perpetrators to commit these deeds.

Senator Mahone then proceeds to predict that reaction will come, and that swiftly and completely. Already the voice of those who were deluded, beholding the injury they have done their own interests under the false excitement of which they were inflamed, begins to be heard. Already, even among those who have heretofore acted with this revolutionary faction, men begin to realize that the desperate agitators and promoters of these outrages cannot be trusted to control the destinies of a peaceful Commonwealth.

SCOPE OF THE READJUSTERS.

The scope of the readjuster party has enlarged with its age and growth. It originated in an issue local, and to some extent unpopular. With time, and the changing issues which time brings, it has widened its sphere, and while its original object has become less prominent, issues of nationalism, of human rights, of liberty, of peace, of manhood, of republican goverment have been forced upon it by the fierce onslaught of Bourbonism, until these issues are broad enough to be national, and it has the sympathy of every man in this nation who loves liberty and abhores the proscription and bigotry of caste, class and race prejudice which is the life of Bourbonism.

Let the fight proceed. If we are to be in the minority in the future it is a minority struggling for principles as strong and holy as when they were backed by a majority. The manhood which sustains them in defeat proves a sincerity and devotion which in due time must and will be crowned with triumph. But, whether future triumphs come or not, the blessings we have secured for Virginia are fixed and indestructible. Our enemies stand before us.

We know that with Bourbonism before us we have an enemy to fight, powerful and dangerous to the interests of the State. We know that masquerading in the stolen livery of democracy it is no true representative of democracy either in principle or personnel, and I believe the readjuster party will, when it next meets in council, unite cordially and thoroughly with our friends, State and national, and make common cause with them against the Bourbons, their aiders, counselors and abettors, State and national, by whatever name they may be designated.

I repeat, therefore, that the struggle against Bourbonism is to be renewed forthwith and to the death, and, as your chairman, I call upon every loyal readjuster in Virginia to rally to the standard and reform to fight a new battle against their old Bourbon foe in the national campaign of 1884.

Bearing in mind the old watchword of a free ballot and a fair count, we have a right to demand and expect support from the State, and, if need be, from the federal government, in behalf of the rights of man, guaranteed by both governments, and put at stake to procure the ascendancy of an unscrupulous party that sticks at nothing to acquire power.

WILLIAM MAHONE, Chairman.
PETERSBURG, Nov. 14, 1883.

Fashion Notes.

Culled for our lady readers from "Godey's Lady's Book."

Of all colors except white, yellow contrasts with black most powerfully.

Red and yellow are very popular in millinery designed for young ladies and misses.

Velveteen is much worn by leaders of fashion and our first people, but the velveteen is also of the "first quality."

Bouquets of autumn leaves, as long as they can be preserved, will be very much used at the first parties of the season.

Softly puffed crowns and kilted brims are the features of some of the newest round hats and bonnets of black velvet.

Pearls remain the most fashionable ornaments for young ladies, and with married ladies the newest gem in favor is the sapphire.

A hat attracting much attention for young ladies is the high crowned Henry II. hat, with the brim turned up slightly all around.

Ladies still indulge the fancy of plunging large daggers through the neck of their dresses across the chest. The most novel of these are in battered silver.

Really popular is a new collar for street wear, which consists of a velvet band, over which lace is turned. A velvet rosette or bow with pleated ends of lace finishes the front.

Dogs' heads are the favorite form this season for ladies' lace pins and similar ornaments. Bison cloth, a fresh novelty, is a warm, rough surfaced material, shot with dark rugged threads.

A favorite way of making morning gowns is to plait the bodice in fine plaits from the throat, and imprison the waist in a wide belt of velvet fastened by a silver buckle; the plaiting below the belt forms a frill that covers the hips.

One of the favorite costumes at private fancy dress parties this winter will be that known as "Comin' Thro' the Rye." It is a short cashmere dress trimmed with rye and poppies, with a large hat slung over the left arm, a spotted handkerchief tied round the neck, and a sickle, trimmed with ribbons and flowers, in one hand.

All Sort.

Thin women in the West have taken to drinking koumiss in the hope that it will prove fattening.

Baroness Burdett-Coutts thinks of visiting America. She will probably bring her own money along.

Sara Bernhardt learned to speak English in about seven months. She has "de lankvitch down to ze ver' fine point."

A warning to women comes from Hartford, Conn., where a girl who talked too much lost her voice from over exercise. She was employed in a telephone station.

Consult your friend on all things, especially on those which respect yourself. His counsel, may then be useful where your own self love might impair your judgment.

A young man who had four times proposed to the same girl and as often got rejected, finally became nettled. "You ought to go on the stage," he remarked, with a sneer. "On the stage; why?" she inquired "Because you are an excellent slight of hand performer," was the reply.

Burying the Murdered Maybees.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., November 21.—The funeral of Mrs. Lydia Maybee and Miss Annie Maybee, victims of the Brooklyn tragedy, took place today. Services were held at the Maybee house by Rev. Charles S. Wigman and Rev. Searles. There was an immense gathering of people from all parts.

NEW YORK, November 21.—There were no new developments to day in the Maybee murder case and clues are still being worked up by detectives. The authorities have now what they believe is a much stronger clue to the murder and are in search of a person who worked for the Maybee family some time ago, and when discharged swore that he would be revenged.

Bellefonte—Beautiful Fountain.

What must a stranger's impression of our town be upon first alighting here at the station? He would naturally first look around to see where the station is, not imagining that the old, dingy, squatty-looking structure opposite—hardly fit for a store house—can be the station of the "City of the Beautiful Fountain." The next view he will get is a lot of iron, lumber, etc., laid around in careless confusion on the principal street leading to the centre of the town, and a number of workmen engaged in the construction of a bridge, while at the side the little foot bridge is fairly trembling beneath a swarm of men who at all hours can be seen roosting upon the railing. Once in the town, take any direction you choose and you will see deep trenches with big piles of earth and rocks, as if the town were actually being dug up. Of course, this steam heating arrangement may be a great advantage to our citizens, but it seems to us that the pipes might have been laid with less disorder and a little more regard to the convenience of pedestrians. A man may be fortunate enough to strike one of the ditch crossings, where there is a plank across, and then at another time the plank may be gone, and in this case you may, if you have had some experience at turning hand springs, be able to leap across in safety; if not, you must go around. Some of the streets are left entirely impassable for too long a time. Care is not taken to put lanterns along the dangerous places at night. We have come very near having some serious accidents, and suppose by the time somebody breaks his neck more care may be taken. A row of lanterns might be strung along both sides of Spring creek where the bridge is being built. Strangers, or citizens who have been out of town and know nothing of the foot bridge being torn down on the side next Printers' Block, could easily step off into the creek, the way things are conducted now. We want those who have the proper authority to attend to this matter at once and prevent loss of life. And now, Steam Heating Company and bridge contractors, hurry up your work and let us put our town in order so that we can take pleasure in inviting our friends here and let them gaze on a town which looks somewhat as its name signifies, "Bellefonte, the Beautiful."

—The Lock Haven Express says: "Isaac Hudson, of Snow Shoe, passed through this city on Tuesday on his way to the Williamsport Hospital. He was born in England and while working in a coal mine in that country had his right leg broken near the hips by two coal cars. The wound was dressed and soon healed. Three years after he came to this country and has since been working in the coal mines near Snow Shoe. A few weeks ago his injured limb began to give him trouble and he has now twenty-three running sores on his right leg. He was destitute of money and his friends raised funds sufficient to send him to the Williamsport hospital for treatment."

Blowing Up a Neighbor's House.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—A fiendish means of revenge in a neighbors' quarrel was employed in Dedham last night. John Long and his family were aroused at midnigt by the wife of a neighbor named Benway, who warned him that an attempt was being made to blow up his house, that the fuse connecting with a keg of powder was already lighted, and that an explosion was inevitable. Long hurried from the house with his family and found the keg of powder upon the piazza. The fire was so close to the powder that he did not dare approach, and in a moment there was a deafening report. The windows were blown in and the front of the house damaged. There has long been a feud between Long and Benway, and the wife of the latter states that her husband arranged the plot. Benway, who had been drinking heavily, has disappeared.

What Dyspepsia Does.

It causes grievous pains by day and frightful dreams by night.
It destroys the pleasure of a good dinner.
It sours the disposition and makes its victim cross and petulant.
It makes the breath bad, the eyes leaden, and the skin sallow.
It makes the appetite capricious and unreasonable.
It causes constant grumbling and complaining.

What "Brown's Iron Bitters" Does.

It invigorates the weakened stomach, and enables it to digest.
It promotes the enjoyment of a hearty meal.
It enriches the blood, improves the liver, and cheers the mind.
It purifies the breath, clears the eyesight, and makes the skin natural.
It brings a regular and healthy desire for food at proper times.

How Watch Cases are Made.

A plate of SOLID GOLD 14 2-10 karats fine is soldered on each side of a plate of hard nickel composition metal, and the three are then passed between polished steel rollers. From this plate the various parts of the cases—backs, centers, bezels, etc. are cut and shaped by dies and formers. The gold is thick enough to admit of all kinds of chasing, engraving, and engine-turning. The composition metal gives it needed strength, stiffness and solidity, while the written guarantee of the manufacturers warranting each case to wear twenty years proves that it contains all the gold that can possibly be needed. This guarantee is given from actual results, as many of these cases have been worn perfectly smooth by years of use without wearing through the gold.

DUBUQUE, IA., Dec. 14, 1880.

I have used one of your James Boss' Gold Watch Cases for seventeen years. I bought it second-hand and know of its having been used before I got it, but do not know how long. It looks good for ten years longer. Did not suspect it was a filled case until so informed by a jeweler a short time since. I most cheerfully recommend your cases to be all they are represented to be, and more.

O. MCCRANEY, Dep. Col. Int. Rev., 2d Dis. Iowa.

LATEST TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

The Mohammedans Excited.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The news of the victory of the False Prophet has spread with surprising rapidity, and the whole Mahammedan world is accordingly excited to the highest pitch France feels the effect in Tunis and Tripoli, and even in Algeria. That, independent of her desire to recover lost prestige in Egypt, may account for France's wish to have a hand in the settlement, by force of arms, of the dangerous storm raised by the triumphant progress of the False Prophet. The French government has received advices that the feeling is growing along all the countries on the north of Africa and El Mahdi is destined to restore Mohammedan supremacy. The growth of such a feeling threatens France in Africa and England in India and they become the parties so directly concerned that their joint action in Egypt becomes far more improbable. It is evident that a Mohammedan rising in the French possessions in Africa would seriously paralyze her in the Chinese complications. The military powers of Europe are banded against her and all the troops she could spare from France would be needed to maintain her authority in Africa. Admiral Hewitt, commanding the British East Indian squadron, has been ordered to rendezvous at Suakim, where he will be reinforced by gunboats from the Mediterranean squadron. Besides countermanding the orders for the withdrawal of the British troops from Cairo the government has advised the viceroy of India that an Indian contingent may be wanted for Egypt.

Wagnerian Singers Coming to America.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Theodore Thomas received to-day a cablegram from Vienna confirming contracts with Frau Friedrich Materna, Hermann Winkleman and Emil Scaria for fifty representations of Wagner music in America. These three artistes are pre-eminent as interpreters of Wagnerian roles. They sang at Bayreuth in 1876. Their first performance will be in Boston, on April 14 next. They will then visit New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, St. Louis and all the other prominent cities of the United States. In Cincinnati and Chicago their appearance will be in conjunction with the May Festivals.

Fail to Agree.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 23.—The arbitration board of the coal operators and miners of the fourth pool, appointed to settle wages disputes, met this morning for the purpose of selecting an umpire, but, after a short session, adjourned till the afternoon without arriving at any conclusion. The efforts of the board will probably be in vain, as seven miners in the fourth pool have decided that unless the operators of the other three pools agree to arbitrate their difficulties they will not abide by the board's decision Upon reassembling, Joseph D. Weeks, secretary of the Western Iron association, was unanimously chosen umpire.

The False Prophet Killed.

LONDON, November 26.—The correspondent of the Daily News at Cairo sent the following: The governor of the Khartoum telegraphs that two chiefs stated that the report of the defeat of Hicks Pasha is false and that Hicks Pasha is at En Obeid and that El Mahidi has been killed.

Too Much Whiskey at the Party

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 25.—John Walker shot and probably fatally wounded Wm. Frasier at a christening party here this evening, the shooting being the result of a drunken row.

Preparing to Celebrate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The city is all agog in preparation for the centennial of evacuation day. If Monday brings fair weather the parade will be such a one as New York never before witnessed. All the military of the city will be in the procession, and the military organizations dissolved years ago are reuniting for the day. Corps are coming from all cities within a reasonable railroad or steamboat ride. Battallions from the present fire department will be in line, and many companies of the old Volunteer fire department are rapidly coming together to join in the march, and are scouring the country roundabout for ancient fire hats. A red shirt and black belt will also be worn. Every band of music in the city is engaged for the day. The "Big Six," Tweed's old fire company, gets its music from Philadelphia.

Murder of a One Legged Tramp.

PHILIPSBURG, November, 23.—Thomas Halpin, a one-legged tramp, was found dead this morning lying longside of the Tyrone and Clearfield Railroad track, about two miles from this place. He had four cuts upon his head and his skull was fractured. Halpin was with two itinerant umbrella repairers yesterday. He was begging money, saying he wanted to procure an artificial leg. They left town together, and the supposition is that Halpin was murdered by his companions. A Coroner's jury rendered the following verdict: "Thomas Halpin came to his death at the hands of his associates." Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the possible murderers.

Shot by an Indignant Politician.

BRIDGETON, Nov. 23.—This morning J. L. Vansyckel, a lawyer and prominent Democratic politician of this city, attempted to shoot John Cheeseman, editor and publisher of the Patriot. The ball from a thirty-two calibre pistol passed through Mr. Cheeseman's coat-sleeve, but did not injure him in the least. Cheeseman, in return, knocked Vansyckel down and injured him severely. A complaint was entered before the mayor by Cheeseman, and Vansyckel was committed to jail, where he is receiving medical attention. The cause was the publication of articles in the Patriot reflecting upon the private character of Vansyckel.

A Fatal Plunge from a Bridge.

CENTRALIA, Pa., Nov. 22.—At a late hour last night John Miller, a resident of Fountain Spring and employed as a teamster, left Mount Carmel for this place. He had to cross a narrow and dangerous bridge. As the horses approached the bridge they became frightened and plunged headlong into the water below. The stream was a rapidly-running one, but not very deep, and the horses broke from the wagon and strayed off. Miller was several hours subsequently found by two young men in a dying condition. He was carried to a neighboring house, but is beyond recovery. He was 50 years of age and married.

Death of a Millionaire.

WARSAW, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Cyrus Jefferson, aged 78, whose wealth has been estimated at from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000, and who was known as the wealthiest citizen of Wyoming county, died this morning at Franklinville, Chattaraugus county, of pneumonia. He leaves a widow and two children, Mrs. James Bristol, of Gainsville Creek, and Rufus C. Jefferson, his business manager, at Woodstock, Del. He recently left Warsaw, where he has always resided, to avoid paying taxes here and west upon his western property and securities. He will be buried on Saturday at Gainesville Creek.

Four Black Horses for Gov Abbett.

TRENTON, Nov. 21—Surrogate McEvoy and Messrs. Coyle and Walker of Hudson county engaged four black horses and a landau to-day to take Governor-elect Abbett from the depot to the State House on Jan. 15, inauguration day. They also secured Washington Hall for that day, and in it will be served up a dinner for the thousand Hudson county men whom they expect to come down to see the Governor safely in office.

Refusing Parnell a Hall.

CORK, Nov. 23.—After a warm discussion last evening the board of trustees refused to grant the exhibition hall to Parnell to address his constituents on the 29th. Owing to inability to obtain the hall Parnell sent a telegram suggesting that the meeting be postponed until after the banquet at Dublin. At a meeting this evening it was resolved to request Parnell to adhere to his original programme of addressing his constituents on the 29th when a hall would be available.

An Extensive Cave-in.

ASHLAND, Pa., Nov. 22.—An extensive cave in has occurred near Logan colliery. It is about seven hundred yards in length and six hundred yards in width along the main line of the Lehigh Valley railroad. The entire track is endangered and a large amount of property jeopardized.

A Cyclone's Bad Work.

BATESVILLE, Ark., Nov. 21.—A cyclone struck Melbourn at 3 o'clock this morning. Ex-Sheriff John Hinkle and his wife and two children were killed, and Mrs. Henry S. Shinkle was crippled. The court house, two churches and several stores and houses were blown down.

Daring Deed of Cowboys.

SOCORRA, N. M., Nov. 25.—News has reached here of train wrecking and robbery four miles east of Gage station. As an east bound Southern Pacific passenger train passed that point at about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon it was stopped by a party of seven cow boys, who opened fire on the train. About twenty shots were fired and Engineer Webster was killed. The robbers removed a plate and the rails spread, thus throwing the engine, mail car, one coach and the front end of a sleeping car from the track. The robbers hung around the wreck until night and then left taking with them about $700 from the express car. The commanding officer of the district has been telegraphed to and pursuit will be prompt and vigorous.

The Maybee Tragedy.

NEW YORK, November 25.—There were no new developments to-day in the Brookville, L. I., murder case. The police strongly suspect a man who resides about three-quarters of a mile from the Maybee mansion. This man has served two terms in state prison for robbery and is well acquainted with the premises and the surrounding country. He was seen in the vicinity a few days before the murder and is said to be capable of committing any deed. He has not been seen in the town since the murder.

Interesting Items from Roland

ROLAND, Pa., Nov. 26, '83

On Saturday morning, Nov. 24, the people of Curtin's Iron Works went to work as usual. Everything was moving along briskly, until the iron work carpenter, Robert Jacobs, made his appearance a little later than common, wearing a downcast look. No one but himself knew what was the matter, but every one saw that something unusual had happened. He was seen to saw off boards too short, and drive nails head-foremost. Occasionally he would miss a nail and hammer his fingers, then drop his tools and run to his house. He seemed to grow worse, when the writer questioned him regarding his actions, and was told that he was that morning sadly disappointed, as it was the seventh girl, and he had calculated and was certain that it should be a boy. At this writing his mind is somewhat calmed.

We saw, a few days ago, an invention of Henry Shultz, of this place, an apparatus to extinguish fires. It is very simple and works to a charm, throws a good stream of water quite a distance, can be operated by one man. He is about getting the machine patented. We wish him success in his enterprise.

Curtins Furnace, under the management of Mr. Shay, is now doing better than it was ever known to do before. Last week it run out 77 tons of fine metal.

Extensive repairs are being made in the forge which has been on a stand still during the two months past. A new Bellefonte water wheel, Penstock fore bay fly-wheel weighing twelve tons, and new hammer block are being put in, by W. H. Musser, millwright of Milesburg. It will likely be in blast again by the 3rd or 4th of December. Under the management of the firm of Curtins & Co these works are run very successfully. They are manufacturing first class charcoal iron. They are wholesouled men. The men in their employ are in fine spirits, and do not want any better times, and will all vote the Republican ticket next fall. No one need to ask for his money more than once. The clever bookkeeper, Andrew G., is always ready to hand over the checks.

John H. Bryon has been for some time on the sick list, and confined to his house, but through the attendance of Dr. Grove, of Milesburg, and the kind assistance of Adam Gingher and Jasper Knarr, the man is improving and will likely soon be among us again. MORE ANON.

Iron Manufacture.

The ninety days' option held by Senator Wallace on certain valuable ore properties of Valentines', McCoy & Linn and other parties will expire in a few days, after which a change in the manufacture of iron in this vicinity may be looked for. We are pleased to note that the present owners do not intend to part with their furnaces already erected and all the arrangements indicate that they will be operated throughout the season at their fullest capacity, despite the dullness in the iron trade. These works have continued on uninterruptedly during the panic and at all stages of the iron market, affording work to employes when iron could not be manufactured at a profit, and we are sure that they could not pass into the hands of any one who would conduct them in a manner more beneficial to this community.

—A Bishop street boy said on Friday, "Oh, mamma, I've dot such an awful headache in my stomach."

A HUMAN FIRE.

The Phenomenon of a Burning Mine Repeated in the Physical System.

A few years ago one of the most important coal mines in Pennsylvania caught fire. It started slowly but soon obtained such headway that it spread through the greater portion of the entire mine. To flood it with water would extinguish the fire, but well nigh ruin the mine; and still the flames continued to increase. At that juncture a young man stepped forward and suggested that all the entrances and vent holes of the mine be covered and secured, thus shutting off the supply of air. His advice was followed and the flames were finally subdued.

To compare the condition of this mine with many phases of the human system is most natural and appropriate. "Fire in the blood" is not a mere expression, it is a most serious fact. How it originates, it may be impossible to say; but that it burns and rages with increasing fury, the one who is its victim only too painfully knows. The blood is the life. It is designed by nature to purify, strengthen and sustain the system. It is too often made the channel through which poison and death are transported. Poisonous acids coming through the veins and arteries inflame and cause a fire just as real as the one which existed in the mine. They burn and irritate, causing the brain to become weak and the nerves unstrung; they carry pains to the muscles and leave agonies in the joints; they devastate the very portions of the body that most require help, and they hasten the approach of death in its most horrible form. These things have been felt by innumerable people who have been the victims of rheumatic disorders, and the agonies they have endured confirm this description.

There is but one way by which this fire in the blood can be extinguished, and that is by shutting off the supply of these poisonous acids. The lactic, lithic and uric acids come into the blood through the liver and kidneys, and they remain in solution in the blood, producing inflammatory rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, neuralgia, gout and all rheumatic fevers and affections. When they are deposited as gritty crystals in and near the joints, they cause articular rheumatism; when in the muscles, muscular rheumatism and lumbago; when in the tissues covering the nerves, sciatica; when in the face, head and nerves generally, neuralgia. In every case they are painful; in most instances, dangerous Inflammatory rheumatism is likely to locate in some joint and become chronic, or suddenly attack the brain or heart, causing apoplexy or heart diseaae. The fire in the blood must be extinguished—the supply must be shut off. This can only be done by guarding the portals to the blood—the kidneys and liver; and no means has ever been found for accomplishing this which can equal Warner's Safe Rheumatic Cure. It acts directly upon the seat of the disorder; it extinguishes the fire by controlling the supply and removing the cause.

The well known standing of H. H. Warner & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., the remarkable success which Warner's Safe Cure has achieved, being indorsed by no less a personage than Dr. Robert A. Gunn, Dean of the United States Medical College, New York, and the fidelity with which they have carried out all their promises to the public, should be a sufficient warrant that the above statements are true. They, however, guarantee to cure ninety-five per cent. of all rheumatic troubles, especially acute, knowing full well that the demonstrated power of the remedy justifies them in so doing. Nothing can be fairer than this, and those who suffer in the future from rheumatism with such an offer before them, do so on their own responsibility, and can blame no one if living pain and untimely death are the results.

—The net proceeds of Frank W. Smith's recent lecture for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. library fund were about $26. The Library Committee of that organization, assisted by the Executive Committee, have spent hours in selecting the very best works that can be purchased with that sum and have at last completed a list of about a dozen different works, embracing standard productions in fiction and history and works of a religious character. The fiction includes several of Holland's works and also Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Prominent among the historical works is "Knight's History of England." Canon Farrar's "Early Days of Christianity" is one of the works of a particularly religious character. There are other equally excellent works the titles of which we do not now remember.

One Contract Completed.

The work of digging trenches for the Steam Heating Company undertaken by Perry Steele, Sr., and his son, Theodore Steele, was finished on Saturday. It was completed sooner than was expected by anybody at the time the work was commenced and reflects infinite credit upon their ability and push. They also have hauled away almost all the superfluous earth, leaving the streets in quite good condition. The other contractors for similar work in other parts of the town have not yet completed their contracts.

Dedication.

The Lord willing, the basement of the Evangelical church, in Centre Hall, will be dedicated on Sunday, December 2, Rev. B. Hengst, of Millheim, will officiate. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

G. W. CURRIN, pastor.

—A larger proportion of Bellefonte's population attend church on Sunday than is the case in most places. We have estimated the number. About eleven hundred persons attend church once a week, while half the population (seventeen hundred) attend about once a month.

SPICES.—The best cook in the land cannot cook successfully without pure, fresh spices. These we have in every variety. Remember this when Thanksgiving approaches. Well-seasoned food adds to long life and happiness.

SUGARS AND SYRUPS.—In Sugars and Syrups we have all the best brands in the market. Much of the sugar now sold is adulterated, and in an article of this kind there is great waste. We buy from reliable dealers, and handle only the genuine goods.

TEAS AND COFFEES.—A Thanksgiving or Christmas breakfast cannot be thoroughly enjoyed without a good cup of coffee or tea. A drink of this kind is stimulating and goes right to the spot. Our Coffees and Teas are fresh and strictly pure. The fragrant odor which escapes from the steaming pot as it comes in from the kitchen will convince you of this. We sell more coffee than any other two houses in the county. Why? Because we sell the best and the people know it.

NUTS, CONFECTIONERY, ETC.—In Nuts and Confectionery we have everything that is nice, and just what will please the young folks, and old folks as well. Our candies are all pure and wholesome; We do not handle the highly-colored, poisonous mixtures that ruin and decay the teeth. We have new Florida oranges (this fall's crop), fine Figs and Prunes, and a choice line of Canned Fruits and Preserves. Bear this in mind when preparing to Celebrate the merry holidays.

We make special mention of the above lines of goods because they are all leading articles at this season of the year. In other lines our stock is equally fresh and complete.

We buy the Best Goods and sell at the Lowest Figures.

Call in and inspect our No. 1 goods. Then you will know where to purchase when your cupboard needs replenishing.

A New Railway Signal System.

A committee, of which James Mc. Crea, of the Panhandle route, is chairman, have been preparing a new system of signals, which will be reported to the next railway convention for adoption. Twenty-five of the large roads of the country were compared, and the simplest deduction made, which is as follows: Go ahead, a motion up and down; stop, a motion crosswise with the track; back up, a motion in a vertical circle; train parted, a motion in a vertical circle at arms' length across the track given continuously until answered by the engineer. The committee will recommend the following bell cord signals: One bell to start, train standing; two to stop, train running; two to call in flagman, train standing; three to stop at next station, train running; three to back, train standing; four to reduce speed while running. For whistle signals eleven are recommended. These are the principal ones: Long blast for approaching stations, crossings and junctions, short toot for applying brakes, two blasts off brakes, two toots as an answer to any signal, three blasts for train parted and three toots for back up. For torpedo signals they recommend one torpedo for danger and two for caution, the latter so that if one misses fire the other will bring the train to a stop.—Altoona Tribune.

—The issue of the Philadelphia Times of Tuesday, Nov. 20, contained an article entitled "Gen. Lee and Gettysburg." If any of the readers of the DAILY NEWS read the Times' article they may have observed that the substance of that cumbersome accumulation of verbiage and fact appeared in the DAILY NEWS of Saturday, Nov. 17, under the title "One of the Unwritten Chapters of the War." The same article would have appeared in the DAILY NEWS of Monday, Nov. 12, but for the fact that we were induced to suppress it by the promise of the larger and fuller account which afterward appeared in the Times. Furthermore, the Times' article would never have been written but for the enterprise of a NEWS reporter, who believing it would be of interest made inquiries regarding the facts in the case. The two gentlemen who promised Rev. S. W. Pomeroy's article to the NEWS and then surreptitiously sent it to the Times can draw their own conclusions in regard to what we think of their action. When, on Saturday, Nov. 17, we heard that the article had been sent to the Times we immediately inserted our briefer and more explicit account, and on comparing the two articles we can congratulate ourselves on the result. This explanation is, however, due to certain readers of the NEWS, and may both amuse and shock them.

—Rev. Dr. Wells says that although he has preached in two hundred cities and towns he never found one where his efforts were, apparently, so fruitless of good results as in Bellefonte. That certainly is the most discreditable thing we have heard said about our town for a long time, but, nevertheless, we believe it is altogether too true.

—The Pennsylvania railroad company is reducing the number of its trackmen. It is stated that between Pittsburg and Altoona one hundred and fifty have been discharged or suspended within the last few days. Railroad men say it is not as hard to keep the track in repair in winter as it is at other seasons of the year.

—A Philadelphia drummer who came from Snow Shoe on Thursday evening could scarcely be persuaded that he was not in Snow Shoe yet. He says that all the streets of Bellefonte resemble the surroundings of Snow Shoe and he only recognized Bellefonte by the sight of familiar acquaintances.

—He who has done the most to lighten other people's labors and trials during the prst year, who has cheered the disconsolate and given wise advice to the erring, in short, he who has lived honorably and been just to his fellow men will have most to be thankful for next Thursday.

—A notice posted in a conspicuous place up-town Friday morning read as follows: "Wanted—Twenty able-bodied men to hunt for the people who were lost in the mud last night." Only five have thus far offered themselves for that purpose and they demand $3 per day.

—The southern end of the Spring Creek bridge intended for the passage of vehicles was completed Friday morning about 11:30 o'clock. L. L. Brown's team was the first to pass over it. James Schofield was the first greenbacker to test its strength. These high authorities pronounce it all right.

—Henry Miller, a Millheim citizen, has taken charge of a new foundry at Laurelton.

—As soon as the Spring creek bridge is finished Harry Teats & Co's store will be a splendid place to buy groceries.

—Although we hear nothing new about D. G. Bush's hair-pin factory, we are informed that he expects to induce a party of capitalists from Oswego, N. Y., to establish a large agricultural implement manufactory in this place. If he does that it will be glory enough for one day.

—Do you get your harness repaired at Schofield's? Well, he can do it in a first-class manner, and can also sell you the finest blankets and robes to be found in the market. If you want a horse-whip get it at Schofield's.

—Rev. Henry Ward Beecher is expected in Altoona soon to lecture for the base ball club of that city.

They Must Fail

What our Competitors Say.

How can the Bee-Hive afford to sell Table spreads at 50c. if we have to pay 75c. for the same in large quantities?

How can the Bee-Hive afford to sell White Blankets for $1.50 when we have to pay $2.00 for them at wholesale?

How can the Bee-Hive afford to sell White Blankets at $3.00 when we have to pay $3.50 for them at wholesale?

How can the Bee-Hive afford to sell White Blankets for $6.00 when we have to pay $7.00 for them at wholesale?

How can the Bee-Hive afford to sell School Bggs at 5c. when we have to pay 15c. at wholesale?

How can the Bee-Hive afford to sell woolen Socks for 20c. when we have to pay 30c. at wholesale?

It is strange but nevertheless true.

The manufacturers and importers from whom we buy do not mind this talk, because we

BUY FOR CASH.

And our patrons certainly do not mind it, because they reap the benefit of our sacrifices. We are determined not to be undersold by anybody. We are determined to make the

Is He the Murderer?

LOCUST VALLEY, L. I., Nov. 20.—The soles of the shoes of James Doyle, arrested on suspicion of being the murderer of the Maybee family, correspond exactly with the casts taken of the footprints around Maybee's barn. Doyle was handcuffed and taken to Brookville, and was positively identified as the tramp seen there on Saturday. Doyle exhibited great nervousness when taken out of jail at Roslyn, and asked the officers to protect him from the excited crowd. William Henry Brown persists in his statement that Doyle showed him the bodies of the murdered women in the barn on Saturday. Doyle was taken into the room where Garrett Maybee was sitting, and told to say 'Me,' and 'I will kill you." He did so. Mr. Maybee recognized the voice as that of the man who spoke to him on the day of the murder. Doyle was taken to see the bodies of the women. He said he had seen them before. He was taken to the barn and into the shed where the bodies were found. There he raised his hand, saying: 'I swear that I never was in this barn before." He was searched, and seven dollars found on him. He said he had given $14 to a lawyer at Roslyn. Among Doyle's money was found a $5 gold piece. Maybee says he thinks the $5 gold piece was among the money taken.

Doyle's account of himself for a part of the day on Saturday is verified, but his whereabouts from 12 noon to 6 30 on Saturday is not explained.

Governor Pattison's Bereavement.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—1.15 p. m.—Governor Pattison and family have met with a sad bereavement in the loss of the governor's little son, Robbie, who died this morning of membraneous croup. Robbie was a very bright little fellow, 5 years of age, the pet of the household, and a well known and general favorite among all of his father's acquaintances. Few of the officials who have visited Harrisburg during the past year, will fail to call him to mind. The funeral will take place at the Harrisburg cemetery on Thursday. Relatives from Philadelphia will be present, dispatches announcing the sad termination of the illness having been sent out this morning. Governor and Mrs. Pattison have the deep sympathies of the people of the state on their sad bereavement.

The Maybee Murder.

JAMAICA, L. I., Nov. 19.—The police arrested a young tramp at 2 o'clock this morning, who stated that the man who murdered Mrs. Maybee and daughter at Brookville, took him to see the bodies on Saturday. The authorities think the fellow drunk or crazy.

ROSLYN, L. I., Nov. 19.—A private examination of James Doyler, suspected of the Brookville murder, was held this afternoon. George Francis Brown, who was arrested at Jamaica, on suspicion of being the culprit confessed that he saw the deed committed by another man who was with him. He was brought to Roslyn and identified Doyler as the murderer. Excitement is intense.

The Great American Navy.

WASHINGTON, November 20.—Admiral Porter in his annual report severely criticises the new steel cruisers like the Oregon and Alaska. He also refers to the report of the chief of the engineers of the army on our seacoast defences, which he says is a pitiable exhibit for a country like this. He says he knows from his own knowledge that there is not a harbor in the country where an ordinary ironclad cannot pass the batteries.

Obituary.

BUFFALO, Nov. 19.—Hon. Addison Gardiner Rice, a prominent lawyer of this city, and widely known throughout the state, died this morning. Mr. Rice took an active part in the anti-slavery movement, and at the breaking out of the rebellion raised and equipped two regiments mainly at his own expense.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19.—Mrs. George L. Converse, wife of the member of congress from this district, died this morning after a short illness.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 19.—Joseph W. Dyer, United States inspector of steamboats, formerly a leading ship builder, is dead, aged 71.

Bridging the Mississippi River.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 19.—The Secretary of State licensed this morning, "The Chain of Rocks Bridge Company," which proposes to bridge the Mississippi ten miles above the big St. Louis bridge. The capital stock is $2,000,000. The project is believed to be in the interest of the Gould lines and Chicago and Alton Railroad Company.

Alleged Defalcation and Flight.

OSWEGO, Nov. 19.—Frederick Worth, Sub-Treasurer of the Oswego Falls Manufacturing Company, left that village on Thursday, ostensibly to go to Syracuse. He has not been heard from since. It is said that he is a defaulter in the sum of $1,500, and he is believed to have gone to England.

Supposed Suicide of a Drummer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—A man named James Meighem, a drummer for a New York cutlery house, was found dead in bed at the Gleason House this city, this evening under circumstances which point to suicide. Meighem, who was about sixty-five years of age, has been in the city for a few days and this morning went to his room at the hotel, having asked not to be disturbed before two o'clock in the afternoon. He was called at that hour and responded, stating that he did not wish to get up. About eight o'clock this evening a strong smell of gas became noticeable in the house and was traced to Meighem's room. The hotel people knocked at the door, and receiving no response and hearing no noise from within, broke it down and entering found Meighem lying dead on the bed, with the gas pouring out of an open burner into his room. Meighem has been a yearly visitor to Washington for fifteen years, always stopping at the hotel in which he died. He was not a drinking man and no one knows of any motive to induce him to commit suicide.

A Letter from the Chinese Minister.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Chinese minister on behalf of his government delivered a letter to Secretary Frelinghuysen relative to Annam. The following extract gives the spirit of the communication: If France desires to maintain friendly relations with China why should we not discuss the matter amicably. If she insists upon invading the northern part of Annam, where our troops are stationed, this indicates she is determined to break the friendly tie at all hazards, and our troops there cannot remain with folded arms, but must meet them in the field. We therefore send this communication to all foreign powers, showing in the event of the friendly tie being broken, that the cause of the rupture does not come from China."

The Madison Capitol Disaster.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 21.—A Madison dispatch says: The verdict of the coroner's jury in the case of the recent Capitol disaster, holds Contractor O. F. Nowlan, of Janesville, guilty of gross negligence in causing certain piers to be improperly repaired, and Supervising Architect Jones, of Madison, and Consulting Architect H. C. Koch, of Milwaukee, for designing internal construction without due regard to its safety during erection, thereby contributing to its falling November 8.

How a Saloon Keeper Lost his Day's Receipts.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—At an early hour this morning two young men entered a saloon at Fourteenth and Biddle streets, where a number of customers were having a Saturday night sociable, and while one of the youths kept watch over the convival party to prevent interference, the other put a pistol to the saloon keeper's head, and made him disgorge the day's receipts, amounting to about $128 They got away with the money.

A Furious Storm Reported.

ST. JOHNS, N. S., Nov. 19.—A dispatch from St Pirre says a furious storm raged there on Friday and Saturday, probably attended with vast destruction to life and property. A number of vessels were wrecked and at St. Schoots several mutilated bodies have been washed ashore. Fifteen or twenty vessels were off Tirepassey harbor during the storm. Seamen think they could not have survived the fury of that awful night.

The Queen en Route.

LONDON, November 20.—Queen Victoria and suite left the royal residence at Balmoral, Scotland, to-day for Windsor Castle. The police closely guarded the train upon its arrival at Aberdeen. The officials of the Great Western railway have taken extraordinary precautions for the safety of the train, and when it reaches the viaduct across Windsor Slough large gangs of men will guard the arches.

Trenton Schools Closed.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 19.—To-day the State Normal and Model Schools in this city and the boarding schools connected with them were closed, on account of the outbreak of scarlet fever among the boys, although there was no indication of danger that the disease might spread beyond the four boys who were its first victims. The patients are doing well.

Suffocated and Burned in a Lime-Kiln.

ASHLAND, Pa., Nov. 18.—The remains of Charles Wilson, a notorious character, were discovered in a lime-kiln in the northern part of town this morning. He had lain down beside the kiln to sleep and it is thought was suffocated by sulphur. When found one side of his body was horribly burned, his clothing having caught fire from the kiln.

Anna Dickinson to Lecture Again.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Anna Dickinson has decided to go on the lecture platform, under the auspices of the Knights of Labor. She declares her intention of making speeches in all the principal cities of the country in the interest of that organization until the close of the next Presidential election.

The Dukes-Nutt Murder.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 18.—The trial of James Nutt for the murder of N. L. Dukes will come up at Uniontown, Pa., the first week in December. The services of the Hon. Daniel Voorhees of Indiana, the Hon. Marshall Swartzwelder and Major A. M. Brown of this city, have been secured by the defence.

Striking Printers Gain a Victory.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—To-night compositors employed on the Times to the number of about seventy-five quit work and left the composing room, they having previously given notice that they desired to be paid at the rate of 46 cents per thousand ems, an increase of one cent; that none other than union men be employed in the office, and that Superintendent Joshua A. Wells be removed. The compositors objected to the latter because they claimed that he was unjust in his dealings with them. Four hours after the strike the men's demands were granted, and they returned to work. Twenty-five new hands were also put to work to make up for lost time. Forty non union men in the office have joined the union.

LIFE'S LABORS.

Either a Source of Pain or Happiness.

What a great thing it is to live, and to live to do good to others! How few there are who appreciate their blessed opportunities, and improve them accordingly. Life means earnest and active work. One should love his life work, and labor intelligently with some good end in view. Each day should see some noble action performed, and its evening find each traveler one day's journey nearer home. He should enter upon the race with a brave heart and keep up his courage until the end. Yet how many there are who fail in this world either through laziness, inattention or ill health. An unwell man or woman can never love life or its work. At heart they cannot do as much as the one possessed of a daring soul and a healthy body who loves his work. This was true of Mr. J. W. Reynolds, of New Lisbon, Columbiana county, Ohio. Through hard and incessant toil and close application to business, his health had become greatly impaired. He had become a confirmed invalid, and the general debility of his system was alarming. He could not sleep; neither could he work. A friend recommended that he try the famous PERUNA. At first no great change was noticeable, but he persevered. He took eight bottles and as a result was completely restored to his former vigor and strength. He says he now feels like a new man and is daily seen about the streets of his city. He enjoys the best of health, and says it is all owing to PERUNA. He loves his labor, and takes a pride in his work, and is unceasing in his praise of the great remedy which restored him.

Hop Bitters.

Delicate and Feeble Ladies.

Those languid and tiresome sensations, causing you to feel scarcely able to be on your feet; that constant drain that is taking from your system all its former elasticity; driving the bloom from your cheeks; that continual strain upon your vital forces, rendering you irritable and fretful, can easily be removed by the use of that marvelous remedy. Hop Bitters. Irregularities and obstruction of your system are relieved at once, while the special cause of periodical pain are permanently removed. None receive so much benefit, and none are so profoundly greatful and show such an interest in recommending Hop Bitters as women.

FEELS YOUNG AGAIN.

"My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady in Providence.

BEDFORD, PA., May 8. 1875.

It has cured me of several diseases, such as nervousness, sickness of the stomach, monthly troubles, etc. I have not seen a sick day in a year, since I took Hop Bitters. All my neighbors use them.

MRS. FANNIE GREEN.

$3,000 LOST.—"A tour of Europe that cost me $3,000, did me less good than one bottle of Hop Bitters; they also cured my wife of fifteen years' nervous weakness, sleeplessness and dyspepsia." R. M., Auburn, N. Y.

—The Lock Haven Daily Democrat has adopted the "patent plate telegraph" plan. This will not be very satisfactory to its readers.

—"He is giving you glue" is the substitute for "He is giving you taffy." The former word is considered to be more appropriate because it sticks better.

—The only pardon granted by the Board of Pardon at their meeting on the 20th, says a dispatch, was that of "a man named Chambers, of Centre county, imprisoned for burglary."

—Many of the important trials which were on the list for the special term of court last week were continued, among them being that of John I. Thompson vs. Samuel Crist.

—Dr. Swartz' new residence on Penn Street is quite a large structure and will make a desirable home for that exceedingly pleasant family. We understand that it will be ready for their occupancy by the first of February next.

—H. A. McKee, Esq., expects to leave Ft. Scott, Kansas, for home about the first of December. He went West for his health. We have not heard whether his stay in that part of the Republic has contributed to his physical improvement or not, but hope it has.

—A few days ago we congratulated ourselves that the leak in the water pipe near the Friends' meeting house was repaired, but as the water is still escaping in that vicinity we conclude that it was not repaired at all. It is about two weeks since the leak first appeared.

—At the meeting of Gregg Post, G. A. R., on Saturday evening, the 17th, a full list of officers was nominated. While the nominations were in progress Capt. Austin Curtin was present and pleasantly entertained the members of the Post with stereopticon views.

—Harry Williams "looped" a trout 18 inches in length the other day, near the bridge. The remarkably long specimen of this choice fish attracted considerable attention. Of course, he threw it in again, uninjured, as the law forbids catching trout at this season.

—There will be very few of the common sort of fish left in the streams around this immediate vicinity. The boys and men line the streams busily engaged in "looping" the inhabitants of the water while usually three or four gasping fish lie on the shore near them.

—The proceedings of the trial of Rev. John W. White before the Huntingdon Presbytery have been printed in a pamphlet of about 100 pages and are for sale at the store of H. Y. Stitzer. There will doubtless be a large demand for them. We acknowledge the receipt of a copy.

—"A Democrat" writing to the L. H. Daily Democrat, indulges in almost a column of incorrect grammar and unsound logic to prove that men should not keep the Sabbath day holy. Such individuals, if allowed to have their way, would turn back the progress of civilization 2000 years or more.

—Captain J. Frank Yealy, of this place, who is an active member of the order of Sons of Veterans, visited Bellville, Mifflin Co., on Saturday, the 17th inst., and organized a new camp of the association at that place. The new camp will be known as the William J. Wise Camp. Twenty-two members were mustered in, which number will no doubt be largely increased at the next meeting.

—Many people are surprised and somewhat disappointed at the appearance of the High street bridge now that it has reached its present stage of advancement. They imagined that it would not soar up so high in the air and that there would not be any obstruction to the view in any direction. But it seems to be quite different. We believe that the cost of the superstructure at $64 per foot will be $4,096, a price sufficient to give us a splendid bridge.

—The stone residence on the corner of Howard and Penn streets, owned by Mr. John P. Harris, has been wonderfully improved internally and externally. Outside the surrounding premises have been graded in a graceful and attractive style, while inside handsome paper on the walls and other improvements render it pleasant and cozy. It is now fit for a residence for one of the electric light or steam heating men, who look forward to mammoth returns for money invested.

Regular Meeting of Borough Council.

The borough fathers who met in the council room on Monday evening included President Ardell and Messrs, Shortlidge, Ceadars, Brown, Crider. McCafferty, Bartley and Walkey. Clerk Mitchell and Treasurer Gray were also present.

The President asked for verbal communications, but received no response.

A written communication signed by sundry business men located on either side of Spring creek on the south side of High street was read. It asked for a recompense of $50 because of the destruction, or appropriation, of a foot bridge erected by them. A motion that the consideration of the communication be postponed until next meeting was carried.

The Water committee reported that the pipes had been laid across Spring creek, although the pipes should have been put six inches deeper. Two pipes on Curtin street had bursted in consequence of not being covered before frost came. For some reason which is not now certainly understood an unusual quantity of water had been used of late, especially on Sunday. This was probably caused by leaks. The pipes were damaged in numerous instances by the carelessness of men working on trenches for the Steam Heating Company, the pipes being exposed and not covered soon enough to escape damage by frost.

The Street committee reported that the streets were in as bad condition as possible, because of the trenches of the Steam Heating Company; otherwise, all was right.

The Fire and Police committee had nothing of sufficient importance to report.

One or two nuisances were reported abated.

The Finance committee offered a bond now due in favor of Angelina Macbride, for $248, to be refunded at 5 per cent.

Market committee reported $2.50 receipts.

The Clerk read the usual number of bills, all of which were approved and ordered to be paid.

A SPECIAL MEETING.

After the regular meeting Borough Solicitor Love appeared and a special meeting of Council was held, the result of which was the adoption of a resolution, a copy of which we are unable to present to our readers. The substance of the resolution, however, is that the Street committee of Council be instructed to confer with the Electric Light and Steam Heating Company, at once, with the object of securing an abatement of the nuisance caused by the work now in progress. This means that the hillocks caused by the upturned earth must be leveled with the street, superfluous earth carted away and the borough secured from all damage or injury that may be sustained by any property or individual.

A Midnight Fight with a Burglar.

About 12:50 o'clock Tuesday morning, the 20th, Mr. Frank Garrett, an employe of Valentines' Ironworks who resides near the carpenter shop of Mr. William Steele on the Lewistown turnpike, was awakened by a noise proceeding from the shop and stole quietly down to the front door to see what occasioned it. He perceived that a large man, who he says weighed about 180 lbs., was proceeding to lift several articles consisting of tools, etc., from the window of Mr. Steele's shop. Frank is as quick as lightning and as nimble as a squirrel, and his movements were unobserved by the man as he crept boldly up to him. He approached within two feet of the man before the latter noticed that anybody was near. Frank drew back and sent his right fist with such force against the man's face that the burglar was sent sprawling into the middle of the street. We understand that Frank proceeded to administer several kicks to his prostrate foe and then withdrew from the one-sided contest. He thought that he had disgusted the burglar with the idea of burglarizing Mr. Steele's shop, but what was his astonishment at about half past one o'clock to hear the noise repeated. He again stole down stairs to see if the burglar had returned and saw the same individual engaged at the same operation. Once more he rushed up to him and sent him sprawling into the middle of the street. If he hadn't been so astonished at the persistency of the burglar he would have administered a more severe punishment to him. Frank says he had a large screw driver in his left hand with which he might have played a tattoo on the burglar's pate, but he entirely forgot to use anything more forcible than his fist. The burglar jumped and ran and Frank thinks he carried a box of hinges and screws along with him. Frank also says he believes the burglar had a companion as he saw another man a short distance off who ran when he saw his companion so easily conquered. A man answering Frank's description of the fellow whose head he punched so severely has been seen by several persons. He is a tramp, seems to be a native of Erin's Isle and weighs about 180lbs. He is a much larger man than Mr. Garrett, but we suspect he thought he was struck by Sullivan on Tuesday morning. Frank deserves the thanks of the community for his boldness, and we hope he has prompted the tramp to seek a more congenial region for the pursuit of his burglarious operations.

The Company and the Council.

It appears that the streets are being dug up by the Steam Heating Company without any permission to do so from the borough. The Company are proceeding under a charter which gives them the privilege of eminent domain, but the Council have that privilege under a similar charter of much earlier date. Although the Council are in entire sympathy with the work so far as it accomplishes a permanent benefit to the town, they consider the Company exceeded their privileges in neglecting to first consult Council on the subject and are determined that the Company shall leave the streets in as good condition as they were when the work was commenced. To do this it will be necessary not only to fill the trenches to a level with the streets, but also after the earth settles to cover the top with loose stones. Unless an agreement is made to do this an injunction will probably be issued to stop operations. We hope, however that the difficult question will be amicably and satisfactorily settled without recourse to legal process.

A Beautiful Tribute to a Deceased Lady.

On Tuesday, Nov. 13, '83, after a lingering illness from the effects of paralysis, departed this life Mrs. Elizabeth Beck, widow of Daniel Beck, deceased, of Half Moon township, this county, aged 77 years, 7 months and 13 days, leaving to survive her six children, viz: John and Joseph Beck, now living at Fort Scott, Kansas; Isaiah, Isaac and Jacob, of Half Moon township, this county; Mrs. Susan, widow of Dr. James McKee, of this place. Thus, full of years and ripe for the reaper, Death, she is again united with her loved ones gone before, exchanging her earthly affliction for a glorious immortality beyond; and although from the nature of her illness and ripe old age, death came not wholly unexpected, yet when the blow fell it again reminded us of the uncertainty of that messenger who spares none. But He, in whose keeping we are, doeth all things well, and the poet has well said:

"So fades a summer cloud away,
So sinks the gale when storms are o'er,
So gently shuts the eye of day,
So dies a wave along the shore."

Died.

BRICKER.—In Boalsburg, November 2, 1883, of brain fever, Maudie, only child of L. S. and Laura E. Bricker, aged 2 years, 8 months and 25 days.

Little Maudie, how I miss you
When each day's work is done—
How I miss your fond caresses
At the setting of the sun!
For your sweet red lips will linger
Never more upon my brow;
Little darling, little daughter,
I am sad and lonely now.

Dear Maudie, how I loved you
In the days that have gone by;
Oh! my child—my little daughter,
It was hard to see you die.
It is hard for me at evening
Never more to see you wait,
It is hard for papa ne'er to meet you
With your kisses at the gate.

Little Maudie, I am weary
Of the fret and toil of life;
Only death will bring the brightness,
And the solemn rest from strife.
Will you meet me at God's gateway,
When my last day's work is done?
Darling Maudie, will you meet me
At the setting of the sun?

—Prothonotary Harper purchased that dog to which we referred recently from Mr. Dance Kuhns, of Eagleville, for $50. He could not induce it, by either command or entreaty, to cross Spring creek bridge so he was compelled to give a colored lad 25 cents to take it around by Lamb street to his house on Linn. We are also informed that he found it necessary to have a very delicate surgical operation performed. One of the animal's eyes was sore and the injured member was removed and inserted on the rear end of the dog, and now the canine can see in both directions.

—The date for the New England Tea Party has at length been definitely fixed for Friday and Saturday evenings, December 7 and 8. It will be held in the room on the second floor of Humes' block above the post-office, formerly occupied by the Y. M. C. A. Tickets for the supper will cost 50 cents, and each person will be permitted to carry away with him the cup and saucer in which the coffee is served, which he can retain as a memento of the occasion.

Indignant Journals.

A state of great confusion and high indignation exists among the Lock Haven journals over the actions of E. Randall, the ex-convict. The instant the man entered the NEWS office while in Bellefonte we at once concluded that he was a crank and that to humor him we would give his absurd story to the public and interest ourselves no further in him. His stay here was brief; he didn't like his reception. But these innocent Lock Haven journals have been reporting his doings from day to day, and now arrive at the conclusion that he is a fraud, denouncing him accordingly and citing the Christian Advocate in support of their denunciation. Gentlemen, as a crank and a great ignoramas, he is unworthy so much attention from you. Let him preach and distribute Scripture tracts if he will. That certainly is excellent. Besides it is easier to charge a man with fraud than to prove it against him. He may be a fraud; we believe he is. But let him that is without sin among you cast the first stone.

—On Monday evening of last week a trench was dug not far from the centre of the street at the intersection of Spring and High streets. Citizens who saw it mentally concluded that it was a dangerous hole and would be especially so after night-fall if no protections were put up to guard against vehicles falling into it. But night fell, the street lamp on the corner burned but dimly, and as Mr. James Cowell's spirited horses moved along Spring street attached to a big wagon two wheels of the vehicle went into the trench. About fifty men and boys gathered around the trench before the wagon was taken out of it. Then a protection was put up and a signal light suspended over the hole, on the principle of locking the stable door after the horse is stolen.

In Court.

Judge A. Hoy and ex-Judge Orvis circulated among the members of the bar inside the railing in the court room last week with that perfect sang-froid which always characterizes such distingue gentlemen in any position they may fill. Ex-Senator Peale was also a conspicuous figure in the legal assembly. Judge Rockefeller presided with that dignity which testifies to his ability. The successful opponent of C. Dale, Sr., occupied a seat at the right of the President Judge and afforded a picturesque setting to properly display the prominent gentlemen all around him. But this scene continued only a little more than a day and during the rest of the week the court room resumed its former desolate and deserted appearance.

—We are informed by the happy groom that the marriage notice announcing the union between Isaac Lose, Jr., and Miss Lizzie Stewart was "about two months behind time." Our only excuse is that we copied the notice verbatim from the Millheim Journal. We are glad that the real time was earlier as it shows that the happiness of married life has been enjoyed by them at least two months longer than we had supposed. We hasten to correct the date which instead of the "8th instant" as we announced, was really the 8th of September. If it is not too late to do so, we extend our congratulations.

—The Boys' Branch met Monday evening, the 19th, in the hall of the Y. M. C. A. with a larger attendance than usual, numbering about one hundred boys. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mr. Crow, after which the time was occupied by the boys as a literary society. The exercises were creditable to those who participated. The Boys' Branch is growing rapidly in numbers and interest, and he who is a boy to-day will make such a man to-morrow under the discipline of this organization that Bellefonte will be glad that she has given it so much encouragement.

—Judge J. G. Larimer, of Pleasant Gap, came to town on Tuesday of last week. He is much improved in health although not yet strong. We also regret to state that his illness has caused him to lose the sight of one eye. We hope he will quickly recover his former health and strength, as he is one of the most genial, whose-souled gentlemen of our acquaintance.

—There is considerable illness in Bellefonte just now. It is of the character of general indisposition and cannot be defined as any particular disease. We sympathise with the afflicted as we feel somewhat that way ourselves.

—The Pennsylvania railroad has added many improvements this fall which render travel more convenient and pleasant.

—Several weddings are on the tapis to occur near the holidays.

HARPER'S BAZAR.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Bazar is at once the most brilliant and useful household journal in existence. It is the acknowledged arbiter of fashion in this country. Its fashion plates are the newest and most stylish; and its pattern sheet supplements and economic suggestions alone are worth many times the cost of subscription. Its illustrations of art needlework are from the best sources. Its literary and artistic merits are of the highest order. Its stories, poems and essays are by the first American and European authors. Its choice art pictures would fill portfolios, and its humorous cuts are the most amusing to be found in any journal in America. A host of brilliant novelties are promised for 1884.

THE SUN,

NEW YORK, 1884.

About sixty million copies of THE SUN have gone out of our establishment during the past twelve months.

If you were to paste end to end all the columns of all THE SUNS printed and sold last year you would get a continuous strip of interesting information, common sense wisdom sound doctorine, and sane wit long enough to reach from Printing House square to the top of Mount Copernicus in the moon, then back to Printing House square, and then three-quarters of the way back to the moon again.

But THE SUN is written for the inhabitants of the earth; this same strip of intelligence would girdle the globe twenty seven or twenty-eight times.

If every buyer of a copy of THE SUN during the past year has spent only one hour over it, and if his wife or his grandfather has spent another hour, this newspaper in 1883 has afforded the human race thirteen thousand years of steady reading, night and day.

It is only by little calculations like these that you can form any idea of the circulation of the most popular of American newspapers, or of its influence on the opinions and actions of American men and women.

THE SUN is, and will continue to be, a newspaper which tells the truth without fear of consequences, which sets at the facts no matter what the process costs, which presents the news of all the world without waste of words and in the most readable shape, which is working with all its heart for the cause of honest government, and which therefore believes that the Republican party must go, and must go in this coming year of our Lord, 1884.

If you know THE SUN, you like it already, and you will read it with accustomed diligence and profit during what is sure to be the most interesting year in history. If you do not yet know THE SUN, it is high time to get into the sunshine.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of THE SUN are sent by mail, postpaid, as follows:

DAILY—50 cents a month, $6 a year; with Sunday edition, $7.

SUNDAY—Eight pages. This edition furnishes the current news of the world, special articles of exceptional interest to everybody, and literary reviews of new books of the highest merit. $1 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issues; an Agricultural Department of unequalled value, special market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make THE WEEKLY SUN the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10, an extra copy free.

Rather too Long.

After Twenty Years on the Wrong Side of Life a Virginian Turns the Tables.

"How long did you say?"

"Twenty years, I said. Up to the time I mentioned I had suffered from diseased liver for twenty years," said Mr. S. T. Hancock, of Richmond, Va., half sadly, as though thinking of that dilapidated section of his life. "At times I almost wished it had pleased Providence to omit the liver from the human anatomy."

"Bad enough—twenty years of that sort of thing," responded the listener. "What was the upshot of it?"

"The upshot was that some time ago I went down to Scott's drug store in this city, and bought one of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS, applied it and was relieved in a few hours, and am now as sound as though my liver were made of India rubber."

—Lock Haven is to have a new post office.

—Bellefonters can learn to wade through the mud.

—Millheim is said to be one of the liveliest towns in Centre county.

—There are protracted religious meetings in progress in both Coburn and Millheim.

—Cook Condo has purchased Roush's hotel at Rebersburg for $2,000, and will hereafter officiate as landlord.

—The ponds at Spring Mills were frozen so solid on the 15th instant that the young folks indulged in skating.

—The completion of all the projected railroads will interfere with the excellence of some of the numerous drives about Bellefonte.

—T. F. Moyer, of Madisonburg, celebrated his birthday on Saturday evening, the 17th, by entertaining a large company of his friends.

—Mrs. Amos Alexander and Mr. Yoney Kreamer are among the Millheim people who are prostrated by illness with no signs of improvement.

—Even the Centre Hall Reporter pokes fun at the long session of the Legislature. Now may the Democratic law-makers exclaim, "Et tu, Brute!"

—John Anderson, of restaurant fame, has returned from the city with a first-class cook, whose skill will add to the excellent reputation of his establishment.

—The eighth and last concert of the Bellefonte Orchestra for benefit of Y. M. C. A. piano fund in Humes Hall on Thursday evening, December 13. Prepare to attend. It will be the artistic event of the season.

—One event that will cast ridicule upon the protracted religious meetings this year is the protracted legislative meeting in Harrisburg. If any good is to be done in this distressed country the legislature should adjourn.

—Mrs. Samuel Rote died at her home in Lock Haven on Friday evening in her 71st year. She was a native of Miles township, this county, and moved to Lamar township, Clinton county, in 1843. Afterwards she moved to Lock Haven. Four children survive her.

—A saloon keeper named Russ, of Harrisburg, was severely shocked by electricity the other day while working about one of the conducting wires which supply his restaurant with light. He was knocked from a ladder on which he was standing. He has recovered from the shock.

—The Centre Hall Reporter prints the top-heavy Democratic pyramid and then, to reassure itself that the arrangement of States is right, it reprints the same list in another column. Print them again, Freddie, and you won't believe it yourself.

—A giant seven feet and eleven inches in height and weighing 296 pounds was married a few days ago in Pittsburg to a giantess seven feet and four inches in height and tipping the scales at 313 pounds. The bridal cake measured nine feet in circumference.

—All is quiet now at the Bellefonte Steel Works. Mr. Henderson, the manager, is in New York and negotiations are in progress with extensive capitalists who desire to purchase the property, but as yet they have not been sold and there is a good prospect that they will not be removed from Bellefonte.

—Brother Kurtz, of the Reporter, after giving a brief account of the recent important proceedings of the meeting of stockholders of the B. E. V. Railroad in Philadelphia, including their resolution to build the Bellefonte and Lemont road, at once remarks, "This brings the thing to a point." What point, Brother Kurtz? The "thing" (railroad) has not yet reached the most important points—Spring Mills, Lemont or Bellefonte. The other points are of no importance —The first legal complication arising from the change of time has occurred at Boston. On the 13th inst, a notice for the examination of a poor debtor was issued from the office of the commissioner of insolvency. It was returnable on the 20th inst. at nine o'clock in the forenoon. According to custom the poor debtor is allowed one hour's grace. He appeared before the commissioner at 9:48 o'clock, standard time, but the commissioner ruled that it was after ten o'clock, and defaulted him. The case will probably be brought before the supreme court.

New Railroads—Meeting of Board of Trade Thursday Evening—"Worth 40,000 Columns of Ordinary Matter."

A special meeting of the Bellefonte Board of Trade was called for Thursday evening, Nov. 22, in the office of Beaver & Gephart. Gen. Beaver, the president, presided, and Adolph Loeb officiated as secretary protem, Howard Lingle, the permanent secretary, being detained from attendance until a late hour. About 25 gentlemen were present including representatives from all along the line of country extending as far as Beech Creek and also several prominent citizens of Bellefonte.

The principal object of the meeting was to hear and act upon an important communication from Philip Collins, railroad contractor, which is as follows:

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 22, '83.

Gen. Beaver, D. G. Bush, J. D. Shugert and others of the Board of Trade:

GENTLEMEN: I will build a railroad from the Beech Creek, Clearfield and South Western Railroad near Beech Creek to Bellefonte, and there connecting with the Bellefonte and Buffalo Run Railroad. Provided, the necessary right of way is secured and guaranteed, free of cost. Neither this road or the Buffalo Run Railroad will be owned or controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, but will give your people another line for trade and travel. I will commence work as soon as the right of way is secured and complete the roads ready for business by July, 1884. The survey or location will be completed this week, and parties owning lands through which the road passes can see where the road will be located or built.

Very respectfully,
FRANK MCLAUGHLIN,
per Philip Collins, Sup't.

The proposition of Mr. Collins was accepted and, on motion of D. G. Bush, a committee of five gentlemen, consisting of Gen. Beaver, chairman, Adolph Loeb, A. G. Curtin, Jr., Frank McCoy and ex-Judge Jno. H. Orvis, was appointed to take in charge the matter of securing the right of way and appoint meetings of citizens all along the line.

The following was also adopted by the meeting:

Resolved, That it be recorded as the sense of this meeting that it is desirable to accept this proposition, and that the President be authorized to convey this to Mr. Philip Collins, with the request that he locate the line as soon as possible, so that further efforts may be put forth to accomplish what is asked for, by appointing committees in each township and borough through which the line runs to procure the right of way.

As may be seen, the above proceedings give a faint idea of the importance of Thursday evening's meeting of the Board of Trade, and its publication is, in the opinion of the military President of the Board, "worth 40,000 columns of what usually appears in the DAILY NEWS," evidently an accurate calculation.

Centre County's Development.

As our editorial and reportorial eye glances back through the past two years of our county's history the present condition of its business development and the flattering prospects before it afford us intense gratification.

When called to wield the pencil for the REPUBLICAN our object was, in addition to giving the ordinary happenings of the day, to write upon such topics as would be of greatest benefit to the county. In doing so our attention was at once attracted to its material wealth, and a series of articles upon the rich ore deposits of Buffalo Run and Nittany valleys followed one another in rapid succession and were widely copied by the press throughout the State, notably by the Williamsport Sunday Breakfast Table, the editorial comments on the articles being usually to the effect that they were overdrawn and imaginary, but that was only because the writers were unacquainted with the real wealth of our county. In the preparation of these articles we acknowledge the aid given us in securing facts by the owners of the land and those who were more immediately interested in the development of its mineral wealth.

When the articles first appeared the Buffalo Run Railroad was scarcely thought of while the possibility of the Lemont and Beech Creek branches were mere figments of imagination.

It is true that none of these railroad have yet been built, but the assurance that they will be constructed within limited periods affords us the highest satisfaction. They seem now to be almost tangible realities.

While we would not assume that this result is solely due to the efforts of the REPUBLICAN, we do not hesitate to congratulate ourselves that it has been all along the most potential factor in contributing to the present stage of advancement. Building and Loan Associations, Boards of Trade and such organizations are lesser agencies which can be put into existence and infused with life only by aid of a respectable daily journal. If the REPUBLICAN had not occupied the field during the past few years the rosy future of a Bellefonte thronged with 40,000 people would not have illuminated the horizon.

But let us rejoice that improvement and steady growth are all around us and shoulder to shoulder let us move forward to make Bellefonte what it can easily be made, the most important city in the State outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

Mr. McLaughlin's Proposition.

The proposition of Mr. Frank McLaughlin, of Philadelphia, to connect the Beech Creek, Clearfield and Southwestern railroad with the Bellefonte and Buffalo Run railroad involves the construction of a branch through Armor's Gap down Nittany Valley, for the development of the numerous rich ore fields which lie in that direction. It has been proposed to construct the main line over that route, passing through Weaver's Gap to the Bald Eagle. This will no doubt be adopted as the final location of the road if any unusual delay or expense attends the securing of the right of way through Milesburg. We know of no community so deeply and vitally interested in the construction of this road as Milesburg, and her people should make unusual efforts to secure the location, which involves a railroad station in the very centre of the business portion of the town. It has been intimated that some of the property owners in that region will ask an exorbitant price for the right of way through their property. In that event they will simply drive the location of the road away from themselves and over the route above mentioned. We are persuaded that the best possible location for Bellefonte is the line through Milesburg with a branch down Nittany valley, but we do not suppose that in order to secure it our people will be willing to assume any portion of the burden which legitimately belongs to other communities.

Local Miscellany.

For the benefit of our readers we repeat the announcement made by the Passenger Department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, that a general excursion for Thanksgiving day has been arranged, and excursion tickets will be sold at all ticket stations on the Pennsylvania railroad, on November 28th and 29th, good for the return trip until December 3d.

A gentleman informs the Johnstown Tribune that his little son recovered from a very severe attack of membraneous croup through a remedy proposed by an old farmer after he had been given up to "die within three hours" by his physician. The remedy consisted in enveloping the child in linen and placing him in a vessel filled with nearly hot water, in which he was allowed to remain for twenty minutes, or until a profuse perspiration broke out all over his body. From that instant his recovery was rapid.

Thanksgiving remembrances and Christmas cards are on display and are as beautiful as usual.

What subject will the Tuesday night literary society first choose for debate? The decisions to be given by this formidable organization are all expected to be of the utmost importance to the public.

Masquerade parties and kindred festivities are in order until snow falls when sleighing parties are expected to monopolize the evening hours.

To a Far Country.

The Jersey Shore Herald has the following: Assistant Engineer Theodore E. Hocke, of the Beech Creek, Cato and South Western railroad, leaves the employ of that company next week to take the important and lucrative position of chief engineer for the government of Nicaraugua. His friend and associate, Mr. Julius Wiest, draughtsman of same company, goes with Mr. Hocke in a more responsible capacity than he has held here. These young men have earned the respect of our citizens since their sojourn here, and their associates express great regret at parting with them.

—We hear that the calf which was sent by Rev. John Hewitt to his brother, Dr. Charles Hewitt, of Clay county, Kansas, about two weeks ago, has not yet reached its destination. The railroad company is bound to deliver it, however, within a reasonable time, living or ——. But we hesitate to name the last word as we earnestly trust that no such a calamity has overtaken the gentle animal.

—It is not the Logan Hose Company, but Company B., N. G., that will give that grand dress ball on Thanksgiving evening.

Electric Light in Bellefonte—Arrangements to Supply this Illumination to be Commenced at Once.

At least one of the companies that secured charters to introduce electric light in Bellefonte is proceeding to make immediate arrangements to supply our town with this new and beautiful method of illumination. The Bellefonte Electric Lighting Company recently sent a committee of its members to Sunbury and Shamokin to inspect the workings of the electric light in those places. The committee had access to business houses and private dwellings in which the light is in use, they were allowed to inspect the books of the companies that operated it and were so much pleased with all they saw that their report encouraged the company to begin immediate operations. One member of the company visited one of the most elegant private dwellings in Shamokin. When he entered the hall, or vestibule, darkness reigned supreme. The owner of the mansion pressed a button in the wall and instantly a flood of brilliant electric light illuminated the elegantly furnished apartment. "Step into the parlor," said the gentleman; and the committee-man did so, although the room was dark. The owner of the mansion, who remained in the hall, pressed another button in the wall and instantaneously rays of light flowed from the grand chandelier, bringing into view every beautiful object, almost startling the beholder. "Now go to the stairway and look up," said the owner of the mansion, and our astonished committee-man complied with the order, peering up into the darkness. Again the owner pressed another button in the wall and all of the second floor of the dwelling was seen to be filled with light. Thus the entire dwelling can be lighted from one place, or any one apartment where the light may be desired can be lighted by the person in that apartment.

The light to be used is the Edison incandescent light, which, so far as the company are aware, takes easy precedence over all other electric lights in use. It is entirely free from danger, and in comparison with it gas light seems to be almost darkness. The electric light rivals the sun in brilliancy. It can be supplied much cheaper than gas, even when the latter is sold at $2 per thousand feet, and the company anticipate that the enterprise will be a rich investment.

The capital of the Bellefonte Electric Lighting Company is $25,000. They have purchased a lot of ground from John Wagner at the foot of Lamb street, where they will locate their plant. They will be prepared to furnish 800 lights of 10 candle power each. The structure to be erected will probably be brick and will be commenced within the next ten days They expect to have the light in full operation by the first of January, '84. We wish them perfect success as, in addition to the improved means of illumination, it will be another advertisement of the enterprise of Bellefonte business men.

An Extensive Fire at Martha Furnace.

We are informed that Martha Furnace, this county, was visited by a destructive conflagration Monday morning about 2 o'clock. The building destroyed was the Martha Furnace railroad station, in which was also located Thompson's store, office and cigar factory. Soon after the flames were first discovered a man was observed running away from the building and two shots were fired at him, which failed, however, to stop him. There is very little doubt that he was the incendiary. Mr. Thompson's most extensive loss was 75,000 cigars which were packed on the second floor of the building. The books and money belonging to the railroad station were locked in a strong safe and it is believed that they are uninjured.

NOTES.

Mr. Washington Rees was employed in the cigar factory.

A $45 gun owned by the editor of this paper which was in Thompson's office has probably gone up in smoke unless it was the one used to shoot the incendiary.

—We are sure that our readers will not make any engagement for Thursday evening, December 13, that will interfere with their attendance on the last concert in the piano fund series given by the Bellefonte orchestra. It will be necessary to raise $90 before the piano can be presented to the Association free of debt, and the concert will be finer than any previous one. Holders of season tickets free; holders of season tickets desiring reserved seats (and every one should have them reserved) 25 cents extra. Reserved seats to others than holders of season tickets, 50 cents. General admission 35 cents.

Mr. Lynn Murphy, an employe of the glass works now residing on Water street, is erecting a handsome frame dwelling on the high ground above the planing mill pond.

Mr. Harry Brew and his accomplished and graceful wife, of Tyrone, visited their relatives in this place on Sunday. Harry has cultivated a very luxuriant display of sidewhiskers.

Mrs. Calhoun, of Huntingdon, Pa. accompanied by her daughter, Mrs Atwood, child and nurse, of Detroit, Mich., are guests at the residence of Mrs. N. Orbison, and will remain all winter.

Mrs. W. F. Reber and Miss Mollie Larimer departed Monday morning on the 10 o'clock train for the purpose of visiting the city of Philadelphia where they expect to remain about ten days.

Mr. Edwin F. Garman, the West End merchant, was quite ill all last week, but we are glad to hear that he is better now. At the present rate of recovery he will be able to be out in a few days.

Mr. Jeremiah Furey, of White Pigeon, Mich., is visiting his friends in this section. This is his first visit after an absence of 22 years. His numerous relatives and friends are delighted to see him.

Mr. Ned Speer, of the Western Union telegraph office in this place, arrived home Friday evening after a most enjoyable trip to Washington, New York City, Philadelphia and other places of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kreamer, of this place, have gone to Millheim where they will hereafter reside. Mrs. Kreamer was formerly Miss Alice VanOrmer and her numerous Bellefonte friends will regret to lose the pleasure of her society.

Mr. T. F. Sallada and family, of Lock Haven, started from that place on Saturday morning in a three seated carriage drawn by one of the gentleman's spirited teams, their destination being Penns Valley where they will spend a few days visiting among friends.

Several lady guests are gracing the home of Mr. George Potter, on Linn street. Among them are Mrs. Laporte and Mrs. Myers, of Tyrone, and Miss Maggie Duncan, of Lewisburg. Mrs. Laporte is a niece of Mr. S. S. Lyon of this place and Mrs. Myers is a niece of Captain W. W. Potter. Miss Duncan is related to Mrs. Potter and is an unusually charming young lady.

Chas. K. McCafferty's Wedding.

A correspondent sends us the following account of an event which we have already chronicled. As it includes particulars not heretofore given we publish it with thanks to the sender. Our correspondent writes:

Mr. Chas. K. McCafferty was married on Wednesday, November 14, 1883, to Miss Blanche Crawford. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents, in Pittsburg. They were married at 11 o'clock, and came to the residence of the groom's father on Wednesday evening and remained one day, receiving the congratulations of their numerous friends. Mr. McCafferty, familiarly known as "Dode," was employed in the dry goods department of Valentines & Co. He now is manager of the Water Works at Bradford, McKean county. They departed on Thursday evening for Bradford where Mr. McCafferty has a house furnished ready for their reception.

Accident at Julian.

Julian was the scene on Wedneiday of another of those unfortunate accidents, the result of gross carelessness, which are becoming far too numerous in this section. As the through freight was passing through the town at a slow pace Johnny Bowers, the 10-year old son of Mr. Albert Bowers, attempted to jump on the train. He grasped the hand support with one hand, but in trying to pull himself up his foot slipped from the step and he fell beneath the car. The wheels passed over his right leg, almost severing it between the knee and ankle, and crushing the foot out of shape. The member was so badly mutilated that amputation was necessary, the operation being performed on Thursday by Dr. Harris, of this place, assisted by Dr. Gamble, of Tyrone.

—The man named Chambers, who was pardoned by the Board of Pardon on Tuesday, the 20th, was one of the Howard burglars sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary by the Centre county court, and taken away from this place only a few months ago. While his sentence was considered to be quite severe it is the general opinion that the Board of Pardon erred in pardoning him so soon. The present Board of Pardon, which has distinguished itself for the few pardons it grants, was rather too lenient in this particular instance.

—While discussing the chances of Carlisle, Cox and Randall for the Speakership of the next National House of Representatives why not advocate the candidacy of Curtin for the position? While the election of Carlisle would perhaps be the most honest choice the Free Trade Democratic party could make the election of Curtin would gratify the Democracy and people generally in Centre county.

—The Clearfield Times "local" considers it unlady-like for girls from 15 to 20 years of age to coast down hill on the snow. That scribe should visit Bellefonte to see some of our grandmothers balance themselves on a sled

—A new fence surrounds the double residence owned by Isaac Lose, Sr., on Spring street.
